DAWES BREAKS PRECEDENT IN CONFAB MEET

Persuades Party Leaders to Expedite Business of Senate
MAY AVOID DEADLOCK
Farm and Banking Bills Given Right-of-way—Dawes Favors Both

Washington—Vice President Dawes has broken another precedent in the interest of expediting the business of the United States senate. Seeing the legislative jam ahead and a deadlock between rival groups, Mr. Dawes persuaded the leaders to confer with him to reach an agreement on giving certain measures the right of way.

The upshot of the conference is that the McNary-Haugen bill as well as the McFadden branch-banking bill will be voted on within a few days and the chances of passage of each are bright.

Mr. Dawes has been criticizing the senate for its rules which permit filibusters. Had he been content to see his viewpoint vindicated at the expense of the country, the next few weeks would have seen an obstructive filibuster as both sides were determined not to let the other have an advantage.

FAVORS BOTH BILLS
Mr. Dawes happens to be in favor of the passage of both the McNary-Haugen and the McFadden bills. He considers the latter particularly to be one of the most important pieces of legislation before the country in many years as it involves a continuation of the Federal Reserve system and will have many provisions affecting the banking system. Farm relief leaders have been so insistent that their measure be passed that they have threatened to block all else.

Mr. Dawes today has been the virtual majority in each case and that if the debate is not prolonged there would be a good chance to pass both measures. The house of representatives undoubtedly will be influenced to some extent by what the senate does.

The McNary-Haugen bill is not the measure which has been proposed in the past. It has been modified with the idea of winning support and that objective is being accomplished. Should the bill become law it will relieve the political situation somewhat, if both houses wish to see enacted. The big problem then will be the matter of administration and it may take a few years to work it out, by which time the presidential election of 1928 will have been held. The basis of the opposition inside the Republican party to Mr. Coolidge today has been the pressure for farm relief legislation from the west. With that removed the opposition will not be as active.

Mr. Dawes has been credited with presidential ambitions though, of course, he vigorously denies it. If, however, the western opposition to Mr. Coolidge were to force the latter to leave office in 1928, someone would have to benefit from the deadlock that might ensue. Mr. Dawes is on friendly terms with the western groups and his sponsorship of farm relief legislation probably will not be forgotten if names other than Mr. Coolidge have an opportunity for serious consideration at the next convention.

Mr. Dawes has the constitutional right to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie in the senate. He feels he has a right therefore to inform himself on pending legislation. The vice president is certainly not a primary member of the legislative branch of the government, but he has a right of leadership in the upper house of congress.

REBELS IN PORTUGAL THREATENING ATTACK
Lisbon, Portugal—(AP)—Unofficial reports Friday morning that the revolutionists at Oporto had surrendered to the government forces were followed at mid-afternoon by an official statement, indicating that they were still holding out and that fighting was imminent. The statement said the minister of war was in the artillery barracks at Oporto, where forces loyal to the government were being organized preparatory to attacking the rebels.

WOMAN WILL TRY TO MAKE CHANNEL SWIM
Long Beach, Calif.—(AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston of Long Beach, mother of a 12-year-old boy, announced Friday she would start about mid-night in an attempt to be the first woman to conquer the 20 odd miles wide Santa Catalina channel. Mrs. Huddleston, who has twice attempted to swim the passage, participated in recent Wigley Marathon swim.

MAID PILFERS JEWELS OF CONGRESSMAN'S WIFE
Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The second robbery in congressional circles here within a week occurred Thursday night, Mrs. Clarence J. McLeod, wife of Representative McLeod of Michigan, reporting to the police that jewels worth $3,000 had been stolen from her apartment. Detectives went to her home and found the jewelry under a pillow of a maid's bed. No arrest was made, as Mrs. McLeod said she would not prosecute. The home of Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, was entered a few days ago when several hundred dollars in gold coin and jewelry was stolen.

FATE OF CHINESE REPUBLIC DEPENDS ON COMING BATTLE
Conflicting Reports Leave Doubtful
Shanghai—(AP)—Conflicting reports left Shanghai in doubt Friday as to the military situation south of here, where northern and southern troops have taken positions for a battle which is expected to determine possession of this city, control of the Yangtze valley, and possibly the fate of the republic.

Headquarters of Marshal Sun Chuan-fang, defender of the city against the Cantonese advance, declared he was holding his own. Nationalist forces forecast his early collapse.

300 REACH HANGCHOW
Missionaries arriving from the battle front area in Chekiang province, reported Friday that 300 of Marshal Sun's wounded soldiers reached Hangchow front, crowding the Hangchow hospitals and necessitating the moving of war theatres is but little more than 100 miles southwest of here. Sun's forces were entrenched along the Yehcentang river, using Yen-Chow as a headquarters. The last known position of the Cantonese indicated they were centering at Chuehchow, 25 miles southwest of Hangchow.

Hangchow, where the wounded were being received, is about midway between Marshal Sun's lines and Shanghai. It was learned here Thursday that the two armies had clashed and that the central section of Sun's forces had been thrust back in the vicinity of Yenchow.

FORCES WON'T LAND
Washington—(AP)—Although the American government is moving additional naval strength in the direction of Shanghai threatened by contesting Chinese war lords, Chinese officials have been assured that there is no intention of making a landing unless American lives actually are in danger.

These assurances have been given to Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister here in response to the informal inquiry as to the purposes of the movement of additional American naval vessels and marines toward Shanghai.

The minister did not lodge a diplomatic protest, but merely inquired for information for the purpose of anticipated possible protest, which might be lodged by Eugene Chen, the foreign minister of the southern forces at Hankow. He was told that the activity of the navy department was entirely precautionary.

PREVENTS ANIMOSITY
Doctor Sze feels that the assurance given are calculated to prevent any animosity on the part of the Cantonese toward American ships as that displayed at Canton toward the British.

A demand that Secretary Kellogg inform congress whether the American government has "any secret understanding" with foreign powers over the use of military force in China was made in a resolution today by Representative Black, Democrat, New York. He requested the house foreign affairs committee to summon the secretary for questioning.

PETITION CITY FOR COMMERCIAL DISTRICTS
A petition has been presented to Mayor A. C. Rule to have the corner of S. Mason and E. Lennox-sts placed in a commercial and light manufacturing district. The mayor will call a special meeting of the zoning commission to act on this petition.

TO NAME JOINT COMMITTEE IN STATE INQUIRY

Assembly Committee Is Designated to Report on Ballard Letter to Sol

Madison—(AP)—The Southoff resolution, calling for an investigation of the state highway department was passed Friday by the assembly, completing the legislative moves necessary to order a probe into the discharge of J. T. Donaghey from the office of chief highway engineer, the election of his successor, the resignation of the highway commission secretary, M. W. Torkelson, and charges of paving company control of the commission.

A joint committee of two senators and three assemblymen will be named by the committee on committees of the senate and by the speaker of the assembly to investigate the affairs of the commission.

The difference in numbers of committee members in the resolution by Assemblyman Prescott of Milwaukee, and the Southoff resolution was rectified by the assembly passage, 76 to 4, of the resolution proposed in the upper house. The assembly had already passed the Prescott resolution.

NAMES 'LETTER' COMMITTEE
The committee to report to the assembly on its investigation Thursday into the letter of C. B. Ballard, state superintendent of public property, to Treasurer Solomon Levitan was named by speaker Eber Friday. It consists of H. A. Staub, E. M. Rowlands, and Thomas Duncan.

The committee will report to the assembly the proceedings in which Ballard refused to apologize to the state auditor from his office. The letter was objected to because it said the sign resembled a "Jewish fire sale advertisement."

FOUR AGAINST RESOLUTION
The four assemblymen who voted against the Southoff resolution were: Sellers of Green Bay, Smith of Viroqua, Schultz of Bruce, and Lawson of Watkiss.

The resolution was presented on the floor under unanimous consent asked by assemblyman Reis of Madison. The only words passed on the floor in connection with the resolutions passage were over the vote of Mr. Smith.

Assemblyman Prescott, noting that no vote was recorded for the Vernon representative, Mr. Smith being present, asked Speaker Eber about Mr. Smith's vote. The speaker asked: "Is the gentleman from Verona in the house?"

After several seconds' wait, Mr. Smith rose, and said: "If a member of the assembly does not enjoy this horse play is he obliged to vote on the resolution?"

The speaker informed that every member must vote one way or the other, but the Viroqua assemblyman said his voting machine was out of order. A sergeant-at-arms' assistant helped him to vote and the red light soon flashed after his name on the voting machine, indicating his negative ballot. Adjournment in both houses was until Tuesday.

STAB ON LETTER
Assemblyman Staub Friday declared that the Thursday investigation of Mr. Ballard's motives in sending the letter to the state treasurer "did not give the people of Wisconsin an answer from this legislature as to the stand it may take on the insult to Mr. Levitan."

"In a resolution, to be introduced Tuesday, the legislature will be asked to go on record as repudiating Mr. Ballard, to let the people of the state know that the legislature will not tolerate such insults to the public officials."

Mr. Staub also intimated that the resolution would criticize Mr. Ballard's conduct in opening his talk before the assembly Thursday that he was "surprised to see the legislature wasting the state's time and money in investigating private letters."

KING GEORGE WANTS TROUSERS WORN IN ROYAL PROCESSION

London—(AP)—Americans in England are having their periodic chuckle over the official orders for King George's procession to the British parliament on Feb. 8. The orders contain the command that "full dress with trousers" are to be worn.

At least a part of these instructions seems unnecessary, but the intention is to rule out knee-breeches, such as Col. George Harvey made famous when he was American ambassador, and perhaps Scotch kilts.

SENATE VOTES TO REDUCE DEBT--NO REDUCTION OF TAX
Republican-Insurgents Solidly Behind Party for First Time in Years

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The senate Friday went on record for the use of the treasury surplus for reducing the public debt rather than for tax reduction. A resolution making such a declaration, offered by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, was adopted as a substitute for one by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, which would have declared for a tax reduction at the present session.

The Democratic organization, opposed the Norris resolution, and the Republican organization, aided by the Republican-Insurgents, supported it. The vote was 46 to 33.

For the first time in years on a political question, the Republican-Insurgents lined solidly with the Republican regulars. There was a break in the Democratic ranks, Senator Belasce of South Carolina, supporting the Norris resolution.

INSURGENTS GIVEN CHOICE
Carrying out previously announced plans to let the LaFollette-Insurgents of the house decide for themselves whether to return to the Republican fold, house Republican leaders have included all nominal Republicans in the list of representatives invited to attend the party caucus of Feb. 21.

MRS. CHAPLIN DEMANDS ARREST OF COMEDIAN

Los Angeles—(AP)—District Attorney Asa Keyes Friday has under advisement the demand of Lita Grey Chaplin that her screen star husband Charles Chaplin be arrested on a charge of failure to provide for her and her two children, as the result of the financial impasse she encountered in her attempt to collect temporary alimony. The request was made Thursday through counsel for Mrs. Chaplin.

Keyes indicated that he would confer with Chaplin's attorneys before acting on the request. Members of the prosecutor's staff said it was improbable a complaint would be issued.

Lloyd Wright, the comedian's personal attorney, contends that a charge is without basis since Chaplin is sending his wife's attorneys $100 a week for the children's maintenance. Thus far Mrs. Chaplin has refused to accept these offerings.

BADGER WEEKLY PAPER CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Mauston—(AP)—The Juneau County Chronicle, weekly newspaper established in 1896, has new owners. It has been purchased by Roy L. Ware, publisher and editor of the Neenah Republican and C. E. Dozer, former Rhinelander newspaper man. The purchasers will take charge Monday.

State Is Backward, Huber Tells Assembly Members

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin may call itself a progressive state, but it shows backwardness in not allowing the people the power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, Lieutenant Governor Henry A. Huber told assembly judiciary committee members Thursday.

In a committee meeting discussing a resolution, introduced by Assemblyman A. C. Reis, Madison, asking an amendment to the constitution to give the people such power, the lieutenant governor called Wisconsin "backward, behind the times, and not eligible for the name progressive."

"This is not a radical resolution," he contended. "The most conservative states have adopted it. Why not give the citizens a chance to hold a club over a change? Let them propose laws or amendments and enact or reject them at the polls, and approve or reject any act of the legislature."

"I would have you allow this resolution to pass and submit it to the vote of the people at the general election in November, 1928. It is their right."

Assemblyman Thomas Duncan, Milwaukee, speaking for the interim committee, argued for a resolution relating to increased compensation of members of the legislature asking that the amendment be submitted to a vote of the people in April election this year.

"The legislator's salary of $500 was set in 1851 and has never been changed," he said. "The interim committee suggests a salary of $1,000, in view of the changing value of the dollar since 1851, the lengthening of the term, and increase volume of business handled during a session."

JUPITER AND VENUS FLIRT, CARELESS OF WORLD'S EAGER GAZE

Chicago—(AP)—Jupiter and Venus will be in approximate stellar conjunction again Friday evening, providing a brilliant spectacle, and recalling the alarm caused in some countries in 1916 during the war when the two heavenly bodies, drifting westward to their setting, were reported as head and tail of a giant digible.

The eyes of those interested in astronomical phenomena were attracted by Prof. Philip Fox of DePaul university, Northwestern university, to the western sky, after sunset, for a view of the apparent near approach of two of the brightest planets in the solar system. The show will be repeated on Saturday evening.

"Conjunctions of the planets occur frequently, but the conjunctions of these two brilliant ones, favorably located as to place and time, are comparatively infrequent."

SAY BANKERS KEEN TO ACQUIRE STOCK IN FORD COMPANY

Chicago Financier Says Value of Stock in 1913 Was $10,000 a Share

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—American bankers were keen to acquire stock in the Ford Motor Co. as early as 1913, Pierce C. Ward, a Chicago investment banker, said Friday, testifying in the government suit, to recover added taxes from former Ford stockholders.

The suit, being heard by the board of tax appeals, is based on a contention by the government that it overvalued the stock of the minority holders when it assessed taxes on the profits they made when they sold out to Henry Ford.

The original government valuation was $9,489 a share as of March 1, 1913, and the present government contention is that the true value was only $5,600. Ward, a witness for the protesting minority stockholders, said that in his opinion the value on the date indicated was "easily $10,000."

"It was the outstanding feature in the American securities market at that time," he said, "and especially appealed to bankers because of the phenomenal annual increase in the earnings of the Ford company."

RAIL MERGER WILL BENEFIT WISCONSIN

More Employment in Superior Car Shops, Great Northern Head Says

Superior—(AP)—If the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are merged, as is proposed there will be "considerably more" employment in the Superior car shops of the Great Northern, said Ralph Budd, president of the Northern in an address to 214 business men Thursday night.

"These shops, as fine as any in the country, will be used to repair cars on the unified roads," said Mr. Budd. "I also look for an increase in traffic in and out of the twin ports, and believe the waterway to the ocean is inevitable."

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific also spoke. He traced in detail the history of the two roads. The merger will be made if the Interstate Commerce commission approves of it, and this body can only approve of it if it is in the interests of the general public. It is for this reason that the two railroad presidents are touring the northwest, in reply to a question, Mr. Budd said headquarters of the Burlington route would remain in Chicago.

BOY SAYS HE MURDERED MAN ON MOTHER'S PLEA

Detroit—(AP)—Anthony Enydell, 16, confessed to Highland Park police Friday that, urged by his mother, he shot and killed George Fanchelli, 43, last Tuesday night. Mrs. Elizabeth Enydell, 35, corroborated her son's story. Both are under arrest. She said Fanchelli, who was married, had forced attention upon her at the point of a pistol. She told her husband and son. The elder Enydell became angry at her, but the lad, fearing she would, as she declared, "go crazy and shoot him myself, if you do not," saved the barrel from a shot, went to the Fanchelli home and shot through a window. Fanchelli, sitting in the parlor received the charge of both barrels in his head and neck, dying almost instantly.

SENTENCED IN 11 MINUTES AT LANCASTER

Bigamist Slayer Shows No Sign of Emotion as Judge Sentences Him

Manacled Prisoner Pleads Guilty in Even Tone After Information Is Read

Lancaster—(AP)—William N. Coffey was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary Friday when the pleaded guilty before Circuit Court Judge Sherman E. Smalley to a charge of murdering Mrs. Hattie Hales, to whom he was bigamously married.

Coffey, the 31 year old Madison bond salesman who confessed he killed his legal wife with a baseball bat and hammer and then dismembered the body, probably will begin his prison sentence Friday night. In charge of Sheriff Bert Morse and a deputy, Coffey started on his trip to the prison in an automobile at 12:30 Friday afternoon.

The final chapter in the tragic romance of the former La Crosse widow was brief. Immaculately attired in a blue suit and silk scarf, Coffey was brought before Judge Smalley in the Grant-co circuit court chambers at 10:55 and 11 minutes later was under sentence of life imprisonment.

COURTROOM HALF FILLED
A half-filled courtroom listened to the proceedings. Coffey with his hands manacled in front of him, stood before the bench while District Attorney R. M. Orchard explained to the court that the defendant wished to plead guilty to a charge of first degree murder.

After reading the information citing the details of the crime, Judge Smalley asked Coffey whether "he wished" to plead guilty or not guilty.

"I plead guilty," Coffey replied in an even tone.

Judge Smalley sentenced Coffey "to spend the rest of his natural life in the state prison at Waupun at hard labor," the sentence to begin at noon today.

Coffey showed no sign of emotion at the sentence and walked out quietly with Sheriff Morse to return to the jail while preparations were made to take him to Waupun.

READS BIBLE
Nervously thumbing his Bible as he sought passages which would bring solace to his troubled mind, Coffey earlier Friday prepared himself to face the charge of murder in the circuit court here.

Apathetically he received the information that District Attorney Orchard, in delving into his past, had uncovered the fact that an embezzlement charge had been lodged against him in 1918. Coffey, the district attorney said, had been jailed in Cascade, Iowa, on a charge of embezzling $123 which he had collected from John Durkin, a merchant.

"That was a mistake," Coffey said. "I am glad they are able to accuse me of no worse than that. I was released after the matter was straightened out."

Coffey asked no questions and offered no comment when told that the funeral of the woman he killed would be held Friday at Elletts, shortly before the hour set for his appearance in court.

Coffey's reticence during the trial and afterward was in sharp contrast to his attitude during the eight days his story of his wife's disappearance was under investigation. He made no comment on his sentence in the courtroom and would not talk when questioned by newspaper men. "I have nothing to say," Coffey replied.

Sentencing Coffey to life imprisonment was a new experience for Judge Smalley. It was the initial first degree murder case heard by the jurist since he became judge of the Fifth judicial circuit in 1920.

DAIRY PRODUCTS DEMAND EXPECTED TO REMAIN GOOD

Department of Agriculture
Warns That Foreign Production Is Increasing

BY RASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C. — Domestic demand for dairy products promises to continue moderately favorable and the foreign demand to show improvement, the Department of Agriculture announced Monday in making public the dairy outlook for 1927.

However, the Department warned foreign production is increasing. The domestic per capita demand for dairy products is expected to maintain its present level or may continue its upward trend.

"World dairy production was apparently heavier in 1926 than in 1925, and may be considerably heavier in 1927," the report said. "So far there has been a tendency for the increase to be consumed in the exporting countries where low prices have stimulated consumption. This has been especially noticeable in Russia."

"In Great Britain, where consumption was lessened by prolonged labor difficulties during fully half of the year just closed, the conditions affecting demand for dairy products during the coming year may be somewhat different. Germany's foreign demand for dairy products, on the other hand, clearly shows some weakening due to increasing domestic supplies. The two chief butter importing nations, England and Germany, imported no more butter in 1926 than in 1925, although butter prices were 10 per cent to 15 per cent lower."

"With normally increased world supplies and subnormal European demand, price depression prevailed in foreign markets throughout the last half of the year just closed. While any further recovery which may occur in world butter prices would be favorable to further increased world production, it would tend to reduce foreign competition domestic markets to even less than that in 1925. Total U. S. imports of butter during 1926 were 5,029,000 pounds compared with 7,212,000 pounds in 1925, notwithstanding an increase in the domestic tariff from 8 cents to 12 cents per pound which occurred to April 1, 1925."

The report called attention to the fact that the year 1927 started with butter prices 4 to 5 cents higher than a year ago. It emphasized that the decline during January is in line with the usual January tendency.

"Storage conditions of butter on January 1st were not only a third less than they were on January 1st, 1926 but were also approximately a fourth less than the January 1 five-year average," the report said. "This together with the fact that production is apparently continuing to run lighter adds strength to the present butter market. The lighter storage stocks and continued low production would tend to sustain butter prices through the remainder of the winter."

LICENSE FEE COST LACKS UNIFORMITY

Weight, Value of Car, and Flat Rate Governs Charge
in Various States

New York—The price and factors involved in determining automobile license fees vary to some extent for practically every state in the union. "Weight, generally, is used as a basis for determining fees in 24 states," says K. W. Stillman, writing in "Automotive Industries."

"Value of the car is employed in six states," Stillman points out. "While a flat rate for all cars, regardless of power, weight or value, is employed in three states and the District of Columbia."

"In 15 states power is officially recognized by legislation as the method for determining license fees. The N. A. C. C. formula, often designated by various other titles, is the basis for determination."

"In determining taxable weights of cars two general methods are in use. Either the vehicle weight, usually specified as the manufacturer's shipping weight, or gross loaded weight is used. "In all cases where value is employed as a basis for taxation the manufacturer's list price, f. o. b. factory, is used."

"License fees for the average six-cylinder, five-passenger, closed car range from $1 in the District of Columbia to $40 in Oregon."

Four flags have flown over the state of Florida, those of England, France, Spain and the United States.

MAN WANTS TO TELL HIS JOY TO THE WORLD

Sore on leg healed after years of suffering

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10.—"I just want to let you know what your Resinol has done for me. For many years I had a bad sore on my leg. I had tried a number of different treatments, including doctor's baths and different ointments and salves. I suffered terrible pain as my work compelled me to go on my feet a great deal. About two weeks ago I saw Resinol advertised and in desperation I bought a jar of this Ointment, not knowing it would do me any good. However, after using it for one week, I was surprised to see the sore was healing and by the time I had finished the second jar the healing was complete. I am glad to tell the world what Resinol Ointment has done for me and I will be glad to recommend it to any sufferer." (Signed) Max Endert, 63 1/2 Jersey Street.

BUCHHOLZ IS CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF GREEN BAY

"Beat big business with Buchholz." With this slogan, F. R. Buchholz, proprietor of Buchholz Properties, including Lake Park reserve in Appleton, has announced his candidacy for mayor of Green Bay.

His platform, he says, is: "Finish the job! Get some smoke coming up the idle stacks. Make Green Bay a better home—hell with the second city in size. Better city rather than a bigger city."

"Last April we voted to Americanize the city government, giving each of the 20 wards a councilman," he says. "Nineteen of the 20 wards carried the referendum. This April we're going after 'big business,' and the mayor of Lake Park reserve consequently may become mayor of Green Bay."

BALLARD WON'T GET SALESMEN'S VOTES

Advises State Officers They Can't Buy Anything Without His O. K.

Madison—(P)—Salesmen—Stay out of the state offices. State officers—Shun the salesman. This is the warning given those who would barter in the state capital by superintendent of public property Clinton E. Ballard today.

Mr. Ballard served notice on the state treasurer's office and the department of health, that the $227.50 calculating machines would be allowed for the departments this time, "but this is the last one."

"In identical letters to the two departments which happened to buy the same machines, Mr. Ballard said: 'I am somewhat surprised to note that the heads of different departments are purchasing equipments and other supplies in violation of the law.'"

"The word permanent property, in the opinion of the superintendent includes various typewriters, calculating and adding machines or any other property having the life of more than one year."

"It is apparent that this office could not maintain a complete record unless the purchase of said property is made through this department as provided in subsection 33.033."

"All requisitions should be sent to this office; agents and salesmen are not supposed to solicit orders in any department. This letter is to advise you that your particular order will be allowed to pass but is the last one."

ORGANIZE NEW OUTDOOR GIRLS' SPORT GROUPS

Three new outdoor sports groups of girls from the Appleton vocational school, have been organized by Miss Agnes Vanneman, recreation director of the Appleton Womens club. Seasonal sports will be enjoyed by the groups.

Nine girls have enrolled in the Tuesday group and 14 in the Friday class. Miss Vanneman did not know how many would join the Thursday group, but thought the number would be about 12.

STATE ENGINEERS WILL GATHER AT MADISON FEB. 17

R. M. Connelly, City Engineer, Is on Society Committee

R. M. Connelly, city engineer, will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Society of Engineers at Madison, Feb. 17 to 19. Mr. Connelly is a member of the pavement committee of the society which will make a report on its investigations the last year.

The tentative program includes addresses by several prominent men, committee reports covering nearly all aspects of engineering practice and many social activities.

Among the important speakers are Prof. L. S. Smith of the university, who will tell some of his experiences and observations on a trip to Japan; President Glenn Frank of the university; C. M. Baker, Madison, state sanitary engineer; T. J. Donaghey, former state highway engineer; Dean H. L. Russel, college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin; W. W. Crum, engineer of materials and tests, Iowa State Highway Commission, Des Moines.

The convention will open Thursday afternoon and a social gathering will be held at the University club Thursday evening. The meeting Friday morning will be devoted to a symposium on concrete and other construction materials. Experts in various subjects will give addresses. Reports of committees will be heard Friday afternoon.

The annual banquet and the joint meeting with the Technical club of Madison will be held on Friday evening. The result of the election of officers will be announced at the final afternoon.

POOR COST APPLETON $1,819 IN JANUARY

A total of $1,819.24 was spent by the poor department in January to help 41 families, according to the report of J. G. Schueler, poor commissioner. There are now 18 inmates in the city home. Of the sum expended during the past month $1,149.34 was for outside aid and $555.55 was spent at the city home.

Business session Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon will be devoted to an inspection of Madison's new sewage disposal plant.

FISH ARE FEWER, BUT FISHERMEN MAKE MORE MONEY

Commercial Fishing Confined Largely to Lakes Superior and Michigan

Madison—(P)—There are less fish in Wisconsin than ever before but fishermen are making more money, B. O. Webster, superintendent of the state fish commission, said here Thursday. These do not take into account the fish being brought into the state through rescue work, he added.

"Without doubt, Wisconsin has all the fishermen, in fact a few more than is needed, to take care of the demand," the superintendent said. "The age-old lure of hunting and fishing, of setting out seines and dragging in a thousand pounds of marketable product, will always attract. As pleasure fishing has its devotees, so also are there those who realize its commercial possibilities—the chance of clearing seven or eight hundred dollars on a big day's catch."

"The department of conservation has recorded an average number of licenses sold for the last five or ten years. During that same time the amount of fish lessened, and in consequence, prices have increased."

"The commercial fishing, largely, is confined to Lakes Superior and Michigan, Green Bay and the Mississippi river. The lake fish, chub, lake trout and whitefish, are marketed almost wholly in Milwaukee and Chicago, being sold the same day caught or the following morning. Mississippi river fish have a more scattered market, many being sent to New York and other eastern points, while huge shipments of buffalo and carp are sent daily to St. Louis and Kansas City, where better prices prevail."

"The fishermen use seines, and hoop nets, but in the big fishing, which has made this state famous, takes place in the Great Lakes. Here the crews of five or six men, drop seines in 'ranks,' seven or eight miles long, to the bottom of the lake. The captain takes his tug, either gasoline motor or steam driven, on a line out from shore, drops his nets each about 1,000 feet long, and marks them with buoys, topped by colored flags. In two or three days they run the same course picking out the nets. The principle is not one of catching the fish in the usual seining manner but one of waiting until they run their heads through the fine netting and catching on the strands."

"Sometimes the buoys drift or currents wash the nets off the course but the trained eye of the fisherman can spot a flag across the water at a distance where the landsman would have difficulty in picking out house and lot. It is a 'pick them up and lay them down' process, as clear, dry nets are dropped where others are brought to the surface."

"Because there is always some one who is anxious to take the place of the fisherman who dies, or drowns and as long as the natural resources last Wisconsin will not only be known as the state which gives this country its milk and cheese but as the fishing grounds of the world. And fish rescue work ought to make the future a happy and a long one for Wisconsin fishermen."

SALARY INCREASE GRANTED SCHUELER

Poor Commissioner Only City
Officer to Receive Raise in Pay

The city poor commissioner was the only city officer to receive an increase in salary this year when salaries were fixed at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night. The commissioner's salary was raised from $75 to $100 per month. It was pointed out by members of the poor committee of the council that the position is practically full time.

Other officers salaries were fixed as follows:
Alderman $300 per year, committee service 50 cents per hour; mayor, $1,300 per year; city clerk, $2,500; city treasurer, $2,500; city assessor, $2,500; city engineer $3,400; city attorney, $2,000; city physician, $1,250; sealer of weights and measures, $1,500; poor farm keeper and matron, $1,500; city weighmaster, $500; city hall janitor, $780; city plumbing inspector, $1,600; commissioner of streets, $2,400.

$4,000 MORE ADDED TO COUNTY TREASURY

Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, Thursday announced receipt of two more checks for county taxes. Each was for $2,000. Combined Locks and Seymour were the contributors. This marks the second check submitted in as many days by Combined Locks, $3,000 having been received Tuesday from that village.

CAMP DATES FOR APPLETON GIRLS IN JUNE, JULY

Girls of Appleton will camp from June 25 to July 9 at Camp Onaway at Chain O' Lakes, Waupaca, Miss Agnes Vanneman, director of the Appleton Girl Scouts association has announced. The camp will be sponsored by the scouts but all girls are invited to attend.

The camp committee of scouts now is making plans for the summer. Menus and selection of councillors is the chief business. Last year the camp was held later in the summer, but an earlier date was selected because often parents wish to take their children for a trip in the middle or latter part of the season. It was thought the weather might be pleasanter late in June and early in July than later.

EXPECT PAPERMILL WILL BE STARTED BY LATE NEXT WEEK

Machinery Is About Ready for Putting Mill into Operation

Menasha—While no definite date has been set for starting up the new strawboard plant of Menasha Paper Mills company it is expected it will be in operation by the latter part of next week. The detail work of getting a plant of this kind ready for operation is much greater than was anticipated. The boilers which were reset and repaired are now being dried out, and the tests in which the straw will be treated are ready to function at any time.

All the necessary changes have been made to the two paper machines. It is the intention to start one at a time, taking on the second after the first has been running ten days or two weeks. Old employees will be given a tryout for former positions and quite a number have been on duty during the reconstruction period. Three full crews of employees will report for duty as soon as the mill gets under headway. A portion of the work will be new and will require special training.

The company is planning to build a sidetrack across Mill-st. in close proximity to its office next spring. The matter has already been acted upon by the council and construction work will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The new yard room made accessible will be used for storing straw. The company has just mailed a letter to farmers of the surrounding country advising them it is in the market for all the straw it can purchase and will be again next year.

NEENAH PERSONALS

MISSION CIRCLE WILL STUDY AMERICAN NEGRO

Neenah—The American Negro will be the subject for study at the next meeting of the Harriet Chapin Mission circle of the Presbyterian church on the evening of Feb. 16 after supper. The musical part of the evening will be furnished by a quartet directed by Miss Florence Hauptert which will give a program of Negro spirituals. Mrs. R. Sanders will read a paper on Booker T. Washington and Miss Theodosia McCallum will tell of the present day need of the Negro. The devotional services will be under direction of Miss Jennie Harris.

NEENAH GOLFERS PLAN TO BUILD GOLF COURSE

Neenah—Golf players of Neenah and Menasha may play next summer on a course. Several individuals are contemplating purchasing a tract of land for the purpose. They say a piece of land a short distance from the city limits is available and will make an ideal golf links. If a suitable number of golfers cannot be secured to form a club, it is the intention of a few men to lease or purchase the site and establish a pay course.

CONGREGATION MEETS TO SELECT PASTOR

Neenah—A meeting of the congregation of St. Paul English Lutheran church has been called for next Monday evening to select a minister to the vacancy caused by the removal of the Rev. A. J. Sommers to Denver, Colo. A meeting was held two weeks ago but no decision was reached.

The Fond du Lac school in S. A. Cook armory. Neenah and Fond du Lac played last year in Fond du Lac. Neenah team losing out a win in the last few minutes of play. Fond du Lac has practically the same lineup this year. A game will be played by the second teams of Neenah and Fond du Lac before the big game.

NEENAH SOCIETY

The Fraternal Reserve association will entertain at cards Friday evening at Danish Brotherhood hall. Schafkopf, bridge and whist will be played.

Arthur Niles will entertain city and rural mail carriers of the Neenah postoffice, Friday evening at his home on E. Columbia-ave. A dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by cards.

Actna insurance men of this district met Friday noon at Valley Inn for a luncheon and meeting. Among the 20 guests were Albert Mielenz of Milwaukee, general manager, and Thomas Keath of Hartford, Conn.

A large class of candidates is to be initiated by the Eagles at their next meeting on Feb. 17. Arrangements were completed Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the association. Earl Harwig, state president, will be a guest on that evening and will talk on the work of the Eagles in Wisconsin.

MUSICIANS HOLD SILVER JUBILEE

Program of Music, Talks and Dancing Entertain Union People and Guests

Neenah—Musicians' union of Neenah and Menasha, and guests gathered Thursday evening at Danish Brotherhood hall to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the chapter in the Twin Cities. The evening was spent with dancing, games, cards, a program of music and short talks. The Neenah-Menasha branch was organized with seven charter members, Charles Herriek, Otto Kleopfel, Frank Haradt, Frank Schmitzer, Frank O. Laird, August Schlichting and Otto Reisenweber. All these men are living and all except the latter two were present at the celebration. Mr. Schlichting is now a resident of Rhineeland and Mr. Reisenweber lives in St. Louis. Mr. Kleopfel has been secretary of the union since its organization with exception of three years. Mr. Reisenweber was the first president. There now are 40 members, most of them connected with orchestra and bands in this vicinity. Mr. Herriek is the oldest and has played the bass viol and horn for the last 60 years. He still is playing with the Military orchestra. Mellorimba orchestra of Appleton, furnished the music for dancing.

LEGIONAIRES ARE READY TO COMBAT STORM DISASTERS

American Legion Post Organizes to Extend Aid During Emergencies

Oney Johnston post of the American Legion, with other posts of the country, is being organized to render aid during any disaster similar to those which have occurred in the country in the last year, according to post officers. The local post already has been organized for emergencies such as floods, cyclones, and earthquakes, fires, and to the city police or firemen and members are ready to answer an emergency call immediately at any time.

The emergency organization was first formed to be successful two years ago in Illinois, local men said. Legionnaires were among the first persons on the scene after the cyclone struck and they immediately organized and started relief work before the storm arrived. The same was true in Florida hurricane last fall.

"Requests from posts for information on methods of organizing relief units are continuing to pour in," said James F. Barton, national adjutant. "The Legion will be ready to do again in any community in which it is called upon to help."

The Legion's task in bringing relief to disaster-stricken communities, which is part of its nation-wide community service program, is to supply organized manpower. The plan recommended by national headquarters calls for the establishment of four skeleton units from the veterans of the post; a patrol unit, a transportation unit, a medical unit, and a supply unit.

Each unit is commanded by a chief with three aids, the whole being under the direction of the post commander. The women's auxiliary of the post is assigned to the supply unit. A citizens' committee made up of the mayor, the sheriff, judges, the police and fire department, the city and county medical officers and the heads of the public utilities is provided to advise the post in the work.

In case of disaster, the Legionnaires are summoned to post headquarters by a siren or bell alarm, or by telephone, and are assigned to the unit for which their training best fits them. The medical unit renders first aid and conveys the injured to hospitals. The patrol unit does guard duty. The transportation unit carries automobiles and trucks. The supply unit provides food for victims and workers and housing and clothing for refugees.

CHURCH COMMITTEE TO REPLACE SECRETARY

An educational committee to replace an educational secretary was appointed at the regular meeting of the Young Peoples society of St. Paul Lutheran church Wednesday evening at St. Paul school. The Rev. F. E. Ziegler, pastor, presided. The committee will act as advisors to the new committee. Members are Adella Rietz, chairman, Irene Ziegler and Winifred Schulz. The committee will prepare an educational program for the remainder of the year.

A report of the play committee, was read and plans were made for a Valentine party in place of the next regular meeting on Feb. 16. The play committee reported that a cast of characters for the society's play which will be presented immediately after Easter, will be chosen soon. Routine business completed the meeting.

BILL WOULD REPEAL STATE CIGARETTE LAW

Madison—(P)—Assemblyman Hitt, of Alma, will soon introduce a bill in his house to repeal the present law prohibiting sale of cigarettes to minors.

The law provides penalties for sale of tobacco for cigarettes, cigarette papers or other material for making cigarettes to minors.

"This law has not and probably will never be enforced," Mr. Hitt said Wednesday. "It is another one of those laws where legislation attempts to regulate morals. They only create disrespect for law involved, and thereby create disrespect for all laws."

"The provision in the statutes allowing parents to notify dealers that their

Madison Business House Contains 6,000 Rodents

Madison—(P)—One room in Madison contains 6,000 rats.

There are big rats, little rats, medium sized rats, almost as many rats as caused the advent of the Flood. Every rat is white, and has pink eyes, and long glossy fur.

People of Madison do not need to worry that any "plague of rats" is going to occur, for each rat is locked up in his cage, and his only food is that which is given him by his caretaker.

The "rat colony" which is one of Madison's newest places of business is located at 1304 Regent-st. and is in charge of Sprague-Dawley, Inc. breeders and producers of the albino rat.

The colony consists of two long rows of wire hatches, each hatch filled with rats. In each hatch are two crocks, one filled with water and the other with grain.

In one row are the breeding animals and in another the younger rats, which are to be sold.

"We are raising our rats for scientific and for commercial purposes," explained R. W. Dawley, "and we are conducting experiments here with rat breeds that will produce a 'perfect' rat."

White rats are used for a great variety of purposes, according to Mr. Dawley. The smaller ones, from 30 to 50 grams are used by scientists in testing foods for vitamins. Larger ones are used in testing poisonous foods, in tests of cancer cure and as tests for sleeping sickness cures.

"We are attempting to raise rats which are uniform," said Mr. Dawley. "These rats will have a high resistance to arsenical poisoning and diseases that will produce a 'perfect' rat."

He stated that there were only two other companies in the world raising albino rats. "If we succeed in raising the kind of rats we would like," he prophesied, "we will have a monopoly of the white rat business. It is our plan in the future to establish branch houses in the east and in Europe."

At present the unique company finds it impossible to fill the orders which are coming to them for their products. Despite the fact that 2,500 rats are being produced in a month, orders from drug companies and universities are always from one to three months behind schedule. The rats sell for from 50 cents to $2.50.

After the rats are born, they are placed in separate cages with their mother. At the end of 14 days they open their eyes, and at 21 days of age are able to care for themselves. Three days after that they are ready for sale.

The "rat colony" formerly was located on a farm south of Madison, but because of the improved facilities, was moved into the city about a month ago. During the three years that it has been in existence, Mr. Dawley and his associates have furnished over 15,000 white rats to scientists throughout the country.

"There are two kinds of rats," explained Mr. Dawley. "The brown Norwegian rat and the black European rat. The albino rat which we sell is a member of the Norwegian rat line."

NARROW STREETS SERIOUS THREAT TO CITY TRAFFIC

Congested New York Should Serve as Lesson to Other Cities

By ISRAEL KLEIN

The narrow streets of New York, most congested city in the country, point a lesson to other communities on the wisdom of planning possible city growth years ahead of time and of controlling its expansion in the future.

In this city, more than elsewhere, two opposites have met to the detriment of traffic—the narrow streets and the tall skyscrapers.

For the width of the streets, present city administrators can't be blamed. But other cities are being warned against imitating New York in the construction of skyscrapers.

Here are veritable cities in themselves, sticking up into the sky alongside streets usually too narrow to handle the ordinary run of traffic. They're built in the hearts of cities where streets were laid out years ago without the knowledge or forethought of future possibilities.

MILLION LOST DAILY

The result is a situation like New York's, in many other cities striving to become great.

E. P. Goodrich, traffic authority, figures that New York is losing $1,000,000 a day due to traffic congestion, and that it would cost billions in reconstruction to avoid this loss in the future. Elevated and surface car lines would have to be abandoned, two and three tiers of roadways would have to be built, tunnels would have to be dug, and most of all, buildings would have to be sliced off and arched to make room for the increasing traffic.

While he estimates the presence of about $35,000 vehicles in New York by 1930, his curve of figures goes sharply up until by 1960, he estimates New York's traffic to run up to 2,100,000 vehicles, almost twice the number of vehicles in the entire state today.

Since automobiles will increase elsewhere as fast as they will in New York, a jump of almost 300 per cent in their number would cause considerable traffic difficulties in many cities of the country. Goodrich figures this jump on the contemplated basis of five persons to each motor vehicle.

THREE PREVENTATIVES

To avoid this possibility of congestion he, as well as most other traffic authorities, points to three preventatives:

First is the limitation in height of future buildings, to conform with the width of streets they face.

Second is the provision of adequate platting and zoning laws, for future spread of the city.

Third is the planning of future wide arterial highways.

Lack of these three is what caused present congestion, it is said. Even the adoption of these principles has to be such as to allow for flexibility in the future. A street that may appear ridiculously wide today may turn out to be sorrowfully narrow tomorrow.

What a vicious thing constipation is! It wrecks vitality. It saps beauty. It fills the brightest heart with despair. What a blessing there is a safe, sure relief from this curse! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—pleasantly, permanently. More—to prevent it.

Why ALL-BRAN is better than part-bran

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs a great deal of moisture which it carries through the digestive system. At the same time it gently distends the intestines—cleansing, purifying, removing poisons and wastes. Being 100% bulk, ALL-BRAN accomplishes 100% results. How different from part-bran products, which contain too little bulk to be effective—often nothing is accomplished. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

Don't trust habit-forming pills!

Contrast ALL-BRAN with pills and drugs—that become useless unless the dose is constantly increased! ALL-BRAN is deliciously with milk or cream, and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out its nut-like flavor. Sprinkle ALL-BRAN in soups. Recipes on every package.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served by diners, hotels, restaurants. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE MAN CONVICTS HIMSELF.
The murder of his bigamous wife by Coffey is an added demonstration of the old declaration that "murder will out." It is a fearful demonstration. It reveals the shivering weakness of man and the omnipotence of God.

Here was a schooled, crafty and experienced person who deliberately planned a murder under the most favorable circumstances that could be arranged. No eye saw. No ear heard. No part of the corpse was discoverable. No gun was found, no bludgeon, nothing. Yet "murder will out."

Had Coffey remained silent or stuck to the original story that he conceived during the time he was planning and executing his crime, he could not help going free. But he could not. He talked. He had to talk. He couldn't help talking. Long before he was questioned by officers he had determined to say nothing but he could not keep his resolve to himself. Something loosed his tongue. What was it? We know not excepting that it exists even if you cannot put your finger upon it. His first admission revealed an accident resulting in his victim's death and a frightened man running away from shadows, away from he knew not what. It was a somewhat plausible story. There was still no case against him excepting possibly of a minor nature for his carelessness. But this man, used to the affairs of men, mature and well informed, could not stop talking. Is it not always thus? He changed his story again in one particular, only one, but that is now enough to convince the authorities that the rest is not dependable. Why did he make the change? It was unnecessary for him to do so. What urged, pressed, forced him forward to take the blunderous step? He could not tell you, nor we, but anyone might tell you that somehow, some way, he would eventually give himself away.

He is no sooner in the mire with one foot than the other follows. He begins to sink. He flounders. In desperation he throws out his hands and they are caught. He sees all lost before all is lost and he confesses the truth, a wilful homicide.

The guilty conscience of Coffey ran true to form. It was not unlike that described by Daniel Webster in a somewhat similar case a hundred years ago: "The secret which the murderer possesses soon comes to possess him; and, like the evil spirits of which we read, it overcomes him and leads him whithersoever it will. He feels it beating at his heart, rising to his throat, and demanding disclosure. He thinks the whole world sees it in his face, reads it in his eye, and almost hears its workings in the very silence of his thoughts. It has become his master. It betrays his discretion. It breaks down his courage. It conquers his prudence. When suspicions, from without, begin to embarrass him and the net of circumstance to entangle him, the fatal secret struggles with still greater violence to burst forth. It must be confessed; it will be confessed; there is no refuge from a confession but suicide, and suicide is confession."

DESERVING OF SUCCESS.
Senator Hull's bill, calling for an appropriation of $750,000 for payment of indemnity to owners of cattle slaughtered in the drive for tuberculosis eradication, has been approved by the joint finance committee of the senate and assembly and passage of the bill was recommended. Cattle owners, whose animals are or have been condemned as tubercular, will be reimbursed through the appropriation, which would come as an emergency fund. The bill would also pay a bill at once for the eradication of Wisconsin prairie tuberculosis with the necessary ously handicapped by a lack of funds to pay dairymen for deceased cattle. Out-gamie county was fortunate enough to have the test applied here and most of the farmers have been reimbursed for cattle slaughtered. The passage of the bill, however, will assure all of them full restitution. Many counties in this state have delayed the area test until funds were available for reimbursement and as a consequence the health of thousands of residents in Wisconsin has been endangered because they have been drinking and using milk from herds that no doubt were infected with tuberculosis.

It is the duty of the legislature to hurry this legislation through and make immediately available funds for which to carry on this very necessary work. Several cities have barred milk from untested herds and farmers in many localities are at present without a market for their products. This situation should be remedied and the legislature can do it by passing the Hull bill so that the general campaign against infected cattle can be carried to a successful completion.

EDUCATION INCREASES.
As late as 1919 it was admitted that the average American had but a "sixth grade" education; in other words, the education achieved by a child who had completed six grades in a grammar school. Today, however, the average American has a "tenth grade" education. The reason, thinks the committee of history teaching in the schools, of the American Historical association, is the increase in the period of school attendance and this same committee predicts that at the end of another generation the average will have advanced to twelve grades.

This is gratifying information for those who have carried on the fight for more schools, better schools, and longer school terms in the face of inertia and disinterest. It has been a long and hard struggle. Interest in school affairs is not general or well maintained. It is sporadic and generally unsatisfactory and this attitude on the part of the public has made it hard to accomplish the work thought necessary.

As our civilization advances the need for a better education becomes more acute, even for the common laborer, for as machinery takes the place of hands, the possessors of those hands must somehow become prepared to take jobs managing the mechanical masterpieces that displace their manual labor. Just in order to live, the average man must have a better education. As the sum-total of the world's knowledge increases he finds the sum of his knowledge in smaller and smaller ratio. He must somehow keep up with the procession and he cannot if he is hampered by the lack of a proper educational groundwork.

In thus raising the standard of our educational equipment we must take no credit on ourselves. It is not something we have done willingly, but only under the spur of necessity.

OBSERVATIONS
Strange things I've seen along life's way,
But here I set it down
I've never seen a loafer who
Was honored by his town.
I've never known a boss to praise
The boy or man who shirked,
I've never seen a goal achieved
By one who hasn't worked.
We talk of luck and fortune's smile,
But lessons must be learned,
A grindstone cannot sharpen knives
Unless the wheel is turned.
Behind the beauty we admire,
The lovely things we see
Are hours and hours of arduous toil
Ere such delights could be.
And when I find a well-trimmed lawn
As down the street I pass,
I know some able-bodied man
Gets out and cuts the grass.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE LAST OF THE VITAMINS
In earlier talks I have told as much as we know, perhaps a bit more, about (1) vitamin A which prevents ophthalmia, dry eyes, night blindness; (2) vitamin B which prevents beriberi or multiple neuritis; (3) vitamin C which prevents scurvy; and (4) vitamin D which prevents rickets. In this talk you will hear the last of the vitamins, for a while, I do not promise that the one I am telling about today is the last vitamin, but it is the latest to be added to the ever continued story of nutrition and I hope Dr. E. V. McCollum and the other scientists who find all these vitamins will lay off work now and let us play with the ones we have until we get acquainted with them.

In order to discover a brand new vitamin these nutrition experts or physiologists go about it like this: They arrange a diet which is complete and adequate in all other respects but which is lacking in the new vitamin they're about to discover. Then they feed a bunch of rats or other animals liberally with this diet and study the effect upon the animals, taking particular note of any impairment of injury or peculiar shortcomings which may become manifest in the life or growth of the animals. Having thus developed the peculiar impairment or injury or shortcoming in the animals fed on the diet, the scientists proceed to prove that the defect is due to the lack of the vitamin, by remedying or preventing it in these animals through the addition to the diet of the natural food which contains the missing vitamin.

This sounds like a description of one of Rube Goldberg's machines, but I know this is the way they do it, because Dr. McCollum says so, and Dr. McCollum discovers a new vitamin every little while. Still, strangely enough, Doctors Evans and Bishop of the University of California discovered today's vitamin.

Vitamin E prevents—no, it wouldn't be justifiable to say it prevents sterility. It may be essential for reproduction. Young rats will grow to maturity on certain diets, become sleek and vigorous in appearance, sexually normal yet sterile, never producing young. The females conceive, but a week or two before the young are ready to be born something happens which leads to their death unless the mother receives vitamin E.

This vitamin E seems to be contained in lean meat, lettuce, whole wheat, wheat germ and particularly the oil from the germ of wheat. The addition of each and all of the other four vitamins to the diet fails to restore fertility, but the oil from the germ of wheat, which contains none of the other vitamins, seems to be the most potent source of vitamin E and when this is furnished to such rats they are enabled to produce normal young.

There is no ground to assume that deficiency of vitamin E has any bearing on human sterility, and even in fertility in domestic animals the influence of this factor is not as yet entirely understood. Let us hope that before the physiologists discover any more vitamins—we have enough now to keep one awake nights wondering whether he is short on any of 'em—they will concentrate on the question "What is a vitamin, if anything?" Nobody has been able to throw a ray of light on that, as yet. All we know is we have to have 'em, at least the first four have listed. If one diet is short in any of the first four one's nutrition is certain to suffer even though the diet be liberal and nourishing and the food pure and digestible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Snuff
Please tell me if... snuff is injurious to a man's health. Is it worse than chewing plug tobacco? (Mrs. J. A.)
Answer: Snuff is finely powdered tobacco which has been generally fermented. Practically it is no more injurious than chewing tobacco. Some cases of lead poisoning have occurred in snuff users, probably from contamination of the snuff by lead from the foil used as wrapper.

The marriage of Miss Elina Schumann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Schumann, and Sebastian Kasper took place at 9 o'clock Tuesday night at the Sacred Heart church at Sherwood.

About 20 friends surprised Miss Barbara Leisch at her home at 261 Walter-ave, the previous evening at a grand shower. Miss Leisch was to be married Feb. 14.

A company of about 25 friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. William Knorr at their home on Morrison street. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. George Steidl and Wenzel Hassmann.

A marriage license was issued to Henry Kuntzman and Laura Seel, both of Seymour.

Now they're saying Gladstone was a Don Juan. We expect to hear next that Napoleon Bonaparte was a Gigolo.

DRIVEN OFF AT LAST

LIBRARY ADVENTURES
By Arnold Mulder

WHEN CURSES STILL HAD TEETH

There lived nearly 300 years ago in The Hague, The Netherlands a young fellow of 24 who took a decision that for sheer moral courage ranks with the boldest acts in history. He was not a bold dashing soldier or a reckless courier with whom courage was a religion. He was a timid, shrinking, studious boy who had had his nose in big Latin books nearly all his life and who knew absolutely nothing about the practical affairs of his day. But when placed face to face with a highly practical problem he met it with the boldness of ten thousand.

This 24 year old boy is known to us today as the great philosopher Spinoza, but he was not great and he was not known then. The point of his courage lies in the fact that he was merely an obscure youngster. For the future great philosopher to set himself in opposition to the great, the most learned men of his day or of any day would have meant little, or for an unknown young fellow to do the same thing meant everything.

Spinoza was a Jew and he had devoted the whole of his conscious life to study. He was a book-worm, and he remained such all his life. It was in the day of religious intolerance. Not only did the Christian try to force everybody else's religion on them, but they also tried to force their own religion on the Jews. The Jews followed exactly the same tactics.

Spinoza disagreed with the religious beliefs of the Jewish community in The Hague and he knew very well that such dissent was not merely an academic question as it would be today. In dissenting he was risking his life, but that did not stop him. He was however given a chance to recant, but he refused. He thought he was right and no pressure could be brought to bear that could change him.

So he was excommunicated, which at that time meant that he was cut off from everything that a normal person held dear. The curse that was pronounced against him is interesting and picturesque today but it was grim earnest to Spinoza. Here is some of it. "We anathematize, excommunicate and cast out Baruch de Espinoza, the whole of the sacred community assenting in the presence of the sacred books with the 613 precepts written thereon, pronouncing against him the malediction, wherewith Elisha cursed the children and all the maledictions written in the Book of the Law. Let him be accursed by day, and accursed by night; let him be accursed in his living down, and accursed in his rising up; accursed in going out and accursed in coming in. May the Lord never more pardon or acknowledge him; may the wrath and displeasure of the Lord burn henceforth against this man, load him with all the curses written in the Book of the Law, and blot out his name from under the sky; may the Lord sever him for evil from all the tribes of Israel, weight him with all the maledictions of the firmament contained in the Book of the Law. Hereby then are all admonished that none hold converse with him by word of mouth, none hold communication with him by writing; that no one do him any service, no one abide under the same roof with him, no one approach within four cubits length of him, and no one read any document dictated by him, or written by his hand."

It sounds almost ridiculous after 300 years but it was far from a joke to the victim at the time. Such a public curse had teeth and only a person of the very highest courage could be willing to have it pronounced. All others would have wilted it. To face ostracism is usually much harder than to face death but the timid, studious, 24-year old Spinoza faced it without flinching. It probably shortened his life — he died in the early forties of tuberculosis — but he chose disgrace and possible death rather than say he believed things that he did not believe.

And the story of Spinoza is the same as the stories of countless others. His judges have long since been forgotten; their names mean nothing to us. The intent of their curse was to blot out Spinoza's name but that name is as much alive today as it was 300 years ago. If those who wish to suppress others could look ahead a century they would probably be more restrained in their curse.

AERIAL GOLF

London.—The course may be rough but most golfers never find it too rough even to tee up the ball. That's the case, however, with many of the air pilots at Rochester who play aerial golf. On windy days it is impossible to tee up the balls, but when the weather's fair, all's well. The golf course, to be sure, is laid out on the ground and four bags are dropped by the flyers.

The Question Box

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens picked from the mass of inquiries handled by the great information bureau maintained by the Post-Crescent, in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you may want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Write plainly, enclose two cents in stamps for return postage, and address the Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Compare the annual fire loss of 1915 and 1925. A. F. M.
A. The loss in 1915 was placed at $172,933,200, while in 1925 it had increased to $579,253,921.

Q. Can platinum be magnetized or oxidized? T. C. A.
A. It can not be magnetized. It will oxidize only under unusual conditions, not in ordinary weather or exposure.

Q. What are the "pits" of St. Louis? A. R. E.
A. The extraordinary artificial habit constructed for the bears in the St. Louis zoo is given this name. These "pits" erected at a cost of $225,000, have attracted experts from Europe to study them for imitation abroad.

Q. Are there more men or women in India? W. P.
A. The latest available official figures, 1921, give the proportion of males to females as 1000 males to 945 females.

Q. Does the moon rise higher in the heavens some years than it does in others? D. A. L.
A. The Naval Observatory says that the moon reaches a maximum distance north of the equator at intervals of about twenty-seven and one-third days. For about 9.3 years nearly every maximum distance north is greater than the preceding maximum distance north, and then for the next 9.3 years nearly every one is less than the preceding maximum, so to speak, being about 23 degrees 35 minutes and the least maximum 13 degrees 20 minutes. About thirteen and two-thirds days after each maximum distance north the moon reaches a maximum distance south, at about the same amount. The next greatest maximum will be in the winter of 1927.

Q. What became of the proposed Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution? H. C.
A. Under a joint resolution of the House of Representatives and the Senate it was submitted to the States for their approval. It failed of receiving approval of a sufficient number of States. Only four States approved it. It was rejected by many States. Others took no action. To be enacted the amendment had to be ratified by three-fourths of the forty-eight States. It is regarded however, as still pending, and is capable of being ratified at any time.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Anyone who has watched the white undertail of a deer flash and disappear into the woods with seemingly miraculous speed when the animal has been warned that a human is approaching, will find the following tale hard to believe.

On the coast of British Columbia on a certain small island one man has tamed nearly a hundred of these beautiful, evasive creatures and tamed them not only for himself but for any friendly humans they may encounter. They do not know the creak of a rifle and so live at peace with the world.

Several years ago a man was sent from England as caretaker for this island. Within a short time, after he had carefully tempted first one deer and then another with tender cornstalks from his garden, not a day went by but some deer friend called upon him. He built for his friends a table on which he daily set a meal of alfalfa or bread. Then the man introduced partridges and quail onto the island to share the general alfalfa.

Only once was a disturbing element felt, and that was with the entrance of some hunters. The ensuing altercation, however, was referred to the government with the result that now the original island and two others have been set aside as game preserves.

So there on Hardy Island, off the coast of British Columbia Tom Brazil still holds court with his friends the deer, pheasants and quail, and each year receives visitors from all parts of the world who visit this glorious country and have heard of his community.

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan

New York.—One would scarce expect such quaint old fetishes as the four-leaved clover and the horseshoe to be found in Manhattan's headquarters of "higher art."

Yet allow me to report that a horse shoe does dangle over the door of the Provincetown Playhouse, that mother of little art theatres which fostered Eugene O'Neill and other celebrated talents.

However, in defense of the custom, it might be added that this theatre was once a barn and easily could be mistaken for one today, but for the bright blue paint and the entrance light.

I am told that a considerable fraction of the New Year illness in New York, which may or may not have been attributed to bad liquor, was actually caused by our old friend, the "Mickey Finn."

A "Mickey Finn" is an up-to-date variant on the knock-out drops of pre-war days. But where as knock-out potions were administered generally with the intent to rob the "Mickey Finn" is used for the purpose of inducing obnoxious ones. Its habitat has been the night club and it was used to get rid of persons whose conduct was becoming objectionable.

Naturally a hostess does not like to call in the police unless absolutely necessary.

It is so much easier to drop a bit of white powder in a drink. Thereafter the drinker becomes exactly but harmlessly ill and removes himself.

Tallying up the Broadway night-life playgrounds, sound prophets say that the New Year's eve celebrations mark the beginning of the end of the night clubs.

Broadway, as most of the nation now knows, has become a three-o'clock street, thanks to a curfew law that went into effect on Jan. 1.

This gives the big hotels an immense advantage and, the prediction is, that night life will be transplanted to the dance floors of hostilities.

Any place with 50 rooms or more comes under the heading of hotel and must remain open all night. Already I am told, several are preparing to accommodate these playboys of the night who seek their relaxation between three o'clock and sun-up.

A tabulation showed the hotel bills and cabarets to be doing a considerable headier business than the traditional night clubs—and a considerably cheaper rates.

1931-32. Maximum north or south may be at any phase of the moon.

Q. Is Venus's fly-trap the only plant that catches and kills insects? S. S.

A. The teasel, that grows in the tangled corners of the field and other waste places, has its leaves joined together at the top forming a cup which collects the rain water and drowns the insects. They collect the rain water and feed upon the insects that get drowned. The cuticles of the neptunes hang on long stalks and insects are attracted by their honey glands and bright colors. Once inside they slip down and are drowned. The English plant, the sundew, feeds upon insects. When a fly settles it is held by a sticky juice that the plant produces and the hairs, or tentacles, close round the insect and digest it.

Q. Do most of the people in the United States have access to a public library? S. T. N.

A. The American Library Association says that more than four-fifths of the rural population of the Nation are without library service and 1169, or 37 per cent, of all counties in the United States, have no public libraries within their boundaries. There are over seven and one-half million negroes in the southern states without library facilities and seven States without organized state library extension work.

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

Broken Threads

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camden, Wis., one night in October, 1918, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night she bears twin girls and dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named DIANE GARE and ELIZABETH. They are called BETTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the battle of Sedan and at first is reported dead. Finally, however, he is identified in a New York hospital and his mother and father see him and find he has completely lost his memory and speech. He is like a living dead man.

Specialists despair of his recovery, believing an operation might be unsuccessful and fatal as well. The day before his parents are to take him home Jim wanders away from his nurse, NELLIE DOWNING.

A search is begun, in which JACK NEVIN, newspaperman, and MIKE HENNEGAN join. Nevin learns that Jim has had his skull fractured in a terrible accident and has no chance to live. He tells this to Nellie Downing, who starts to faint.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIV

"Come, now, Nellie," said Jack Nevin. "Brace up, old girl."

He caught her in his free arm and supported her.

But Nellie Downing straightened almost instantly. "I'm not going to faint," she said calmly. "I'm not the fainting kind."

"Maybe you're not," said Nevin, a little grimly, "but those lips of yours have a mighty funny look."

One of her hands flew to her throat. "What shall we do? What shall we tell Mollie and Prof Elwell—how can we tell them?"

He considered this, noting that she was collecting herself and evidently had passed the point of fainting.

"Well," he hesitated, "your man isn't dead—yet, so we'll just say 'he's been found and then on the way down to Twenty-sixth street I'll break it to his father and Mike Hennegan. Then when we get her to Bellevue we'll have help in case she collapses. That's the best plan I can think of."

"Even so, Jack, it's a cruel plan. Oh, why can't we spare her this terrible news? It's going to break her, Jack, as sure as we're alive."

"I'm sorry," he said simply. "I'm not much good at such things."

They returned to their taxi cab. There Jack Nevin saw the eager question in Mollie Elwell's eyes and head. That is, he half heard.

"Mistake," he said laconically. "The man they got here is not Jim Elwell. But we've got the correct information now and we'll see your son very shortly."

"Where is he?"

"At Bellevue hospital. At least," he said quickly to forestall another question before it should come too quickly, "we're pretty positive the man at Bellevue is your son. They found a letter in his coat addressed to Mrs. Edwin Elwell."

The letter was accounted for by Mollie. She had placed it in his pocket the day before, she said. "It was a letter from a neighbor at home and I had it with me when I took Jim for a walk."

"How?" asked Prof. "Does he happen to be at Bellevue hospital?" "Has he been hurt?" He looked at Jack Nevin keenly.

Nevin found that breaking the news to Prof without letting Mollie know the truth was not so easy. While, as Nellie Downing had said, he was a good newspaperman, he was not a very good actor.

And neither was the little nurse. They were unable to hide from Mollie's intuitive gaze the story their faces and evasive manners revealed.

Nor was Prof slow in divining that matters were far worse than they seemed.

"You might as well tell us the truth," Jim's father said, after an exchange of looks had passed between him and his wife. "If Jim is dead we've got to know it very soon anyhow. Is he, Nellie?"

Mollie waited breathlessly for Nellie Downing to answer.

The nurse took her hand in both her own. "No, dear, but the report stated he was badly hurt. Skull fracture, the police told Mr. Nevin. He didn't talk with the hospital direct. He was still alive, so let us hope for the best, as the police think."

Prof Elwell sighed. Hoping for the best had been about the best thing Mollie and he had been doing for several months. There was getting to be a sameness to these wallows from fate, it seemed to him, that was mighty trying.

They got it first from one side, then from another. Was this the finish? Would they take Jim Elwell back in a box, after all, instead of on his feet? Well, they had stood it before, he reflected. They had stood it when they had thought Jim dead. Probably they could stand it again, although this one was crueler than any.

Anyhow, what else was there to do except stand it? But it certainly was hard on Mollie.

Jack Nevin was trying to be of some comfort to the woman he had had to hurt.

"Skull fracture," he said to Mollie earnestly, "isn't necessarily fatal. In this case I imagine they think the case is more serious than usual because of the patient's inability to talk."

Nellie Downing didn't break in to remind him that skull fracture patients very often were unconscious for a time anyway.

"How was he hurt?" Jim's mother asked. "You can tell me, Mr. Nevin. I'm able to listen to the whole story."

"Hit by a truck," he told her, "at Fourteenth and Broadway. You know how bad traffic is down there at times."

"Mike Hennegan, who had sat in silence during their conversation, now spoke up. "You know," he said, addressing no one in particular, "I'm beginning to think that I'm a—say, Mr. Nevin, what do you call those birds who think things have just got to happen anyway and kinda come to be resigned to it. Know what I mean?"

"Fatalists," Nevin supplied.

"That's the word. I'm beginning to think I'm one of these here fatalists. You know, I think that if it had been in the cards for Jim Elwell to get killed he would have got it when that shell struck at Sedan."

It stood to reason, he went on, that a guy who could pull through all that Jim Elwell had pulled through wasn't slated to die in a traffic accident.

"It ain't in the cards," he announced with finality.

Prof Elwell told him he'd like to take the same cheerful view of things. "But we've had so much to contend with, Mike."

"I'm about ready to give up hope altogether," Mollie said and sighed.

No one answered her. Nevin thought for a minute of answering with some bright bit of optimism but told himself he was a fool. There was no further word spoken in the little group until their cab had pulled up in front of Bellevue hospital.

Again at Bellevue, as at the Metropolitan hospital, Nellie Downing's uniform was the badge that eliminated red tape and delay.

"You have an accident victim here named James Elwell?" she asked the nurse on duty at the door.

The nurse would find out. She busied herself at the telephone. "There's a man named Elwell, yes. Skull fracture."

"Yes, that's it."

"Do all these people want to see him?" The nurse frowned slightly. Mike Hennegan stepped back. "You can count me out," said he. "I don't want to be in the way."

Nellie Downing said, "These are his parents and this is Mr. Nevin, a newspaperman from the Planet. May we see him?"

The nurse believed so. Someone was coming down who would conduct them to Jim.

They found Jim on a bed, his head swathed in bandages.

"He is still unconscious," said the nurse on duty when they approached the bedside. "It is now—she looked at her wrist watch—"eight fifty-five. He was brought in shortly after seven o'clock."

Jim's father and mother looked down at the still figure stretched out before them. Nellie Downing turned her head away as did Jack Nevin.

"Finally," "Is there any likelihood of his regaining consciousness before—before very long?" asked Prof Elwell. He had almost said, "before he dies," but he had caught a glimpse of Mollie's white lips.

The nurse shrugged her shoulders. "There's really no way of knowing. Sometimes a patient with a fractured skull will remain unconscious for several days and then recover. Others have regained consciousness very soon and then died. Others have done so and lived."

Nellie Downing nodded her confirmation. "All we can do is wait—and hope."

"Tell me," Mollie said, addressing the strange nurse, "is he—is he very seriously hurt?"

The nurse shrugged. She told Mollie Elwell, in a sympathetic tone, that skull fractures—severe ones, that was—were gambles.

"Right now we couldn't say one way or another. In a few hours, perhaps," Jack Nevin, being a good reporter, felt the urge to get to a telephone. It was nine o'clock and the deadline for the next edition of the Planet was nine-thirty. He found a telephone at the nurses' desk in the main corridor, obtained permission to use it and called his office.

"Hello, Planet. Give me the city room. Hello, hello—let me have the rewrite desk. Hello—Pete? Jack Nevin talking. . . . At Bellevue. . . . Good war story with dressing. Get the name, now."

"Soldier: name of Elwell. . . . James T. T. for Thomas. . . . Twenty-five. . . . From Camdensville. . . . C-a-m-d-e-n-s-v-i-l-l-e, Indiana—Hoosier state, you know. . . . Shellshock at Sedan. . . . name? Forget it. . . . What's that—pretty? Certainly she's pretty. . . . Who? Me? Talk sense; I got only one leg. . . . Huh? Certainly she's got two.

"C'mon, damn it, lay off the funny stuff an' get—"

"Mr. Nevin, just a moment, please. Please!"

Jack Nevin clapped a hand over the phone's mouthpiece and jerked his head around. Nellie Downing stood at his side.

For the first time in his career, Jack Nevin throws down his paper on a story. Read the next chapter.

TWO CARS STOLEN IN STATE OVER WEEKEND

A reward for the recovery of two automobiles stolen in Wisconsin over the weekend is offered by the Wisconsin Automobile Insurance Co. of Menominee, according to information received by the police department.

One of the missing cars, a Chevrolet touring, was stolen Saturday, Jan. 23, at Burlington. It is a 1923 model, the serial number of which is 21B14232 and the motor number J62970. The machine was equipped with a sun visor, a spotlight, a motometer and a spare tire.

A Chevrolet landau sedan, 1926 model, was stolen Sunday, Jan. 30, at Madison. This car was equipped with four Norwalk balloon tires, and a Goodyear balloon tire for a spare. It had a windshield wiper, a motometer and front bumper, and the seats were covered with blue and gray striped seat covers. The right rear outside ornamental box was broken and welded. The speedometer showed approximately 11,000 miles. The serial number is 21V18580 and the motor number 2310573. It had a 1926 Wisconsin license number C99-523.

INDUSTRIAL SURVEY NOT NECESSARY HERE

Several vocational schools in the Fox river valley are conducting surveys of the employers in those cities to ascertain how closely the rules of the industrial commission are being followed. Such a survey is not necessary in Appleton, according to Herb Hellig, director of the Appleton Vocational school, because this material here is available at any time.

Appleton has two means of keeping a close check on the boys and girls of school age. First, the city has a full time truant officer who keeps a complete record and second the Placement bureau at the Vocational school, a junior division of the United States Employment bureau, also maintains a complete record. The placement bureau, through its coordinator E. P. Chandler, made a survey of all factories in the city this spring.

Other cities are taking these surveys because they have not been able to secure an officially established placement bureau. Some cities do not have full time truant officers.

LATEST "THE POTTERS"

An unexpectedly appropriate bit of realism was injected into W. C. Fields' latest Paramount comedy, "The Potters," showing at Fischers Appleton Theatre, today, Saturday and Sunday, while the picture was being filmed. In one of the scenes, Fields, as Pa Potter, returns home flushed with the profitable sale of his oil stock, wearing a new fur coat, carrying a portable radio set, his pockets stuffed with purchases. To the astonishment of Mrs. Mary Alden, Pa. struts into the room, takes off his coat, places his outfit on the table opens up the aerial and tunes in. The scene was rehearsed without opening the set, which had been rented from a local dealer.

When the first shot was taken, however, Fields went through his business of turning the dial. To the astonishment of the comedian, and everyone within hearing, a voice suddenly materialized out of the ether, with the following remarks: "The question of whether or not the government oil reserves were deliberately bartered away to private interests is the chief item of interest in the news today and will probably be settled by the jury hearing the case against Edward, etc."

THE "GREEN HAT" NATIONAL CURIOSITY

A dash through the window of a Deauville hotel by a brace of inquiring reporters, a shriek from a frightened maid, and "The Green Hat" will be off at the Appleton Theatre on Feb. 10, on a start that will undoubtedly place it among the season's blue ribbon awards.

"The Green Hat," as everyone who has mastered two syllables of the English language must know by this time, is Michael Arlen's dramatization of his internationally famous novel of the same name.

"The Green Hat" reveals expert workmanship in its stage form, just as it does between two covers. The more vital incidents have been handled with discretion. The episode in the Deauville Hotel immediately after the suicide of "Boy" Brown, Napier Harpenden's flat in London, 10 years later, a convent nursing home on the outskirts of Paris, and the library of Sutton Marie, where takes place the dramatic return of Iris, serve as settings.

MAYOR EXPECTS COPY OF STATE TAX PROGRAM

A copy of the state tax program as prepared by a special committee appointed by Mayor A. C. Rule at a recent standing committee meeting here, is expected by the mayor within the next week. This program is expected to be adopted by the common council and presented to the state legislature. City councils and commercial bodies throughout the state and the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association will place their approval on the program and submit it to the legislature.

Members of the special committee are Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, chairman; Henry Traxler, city manager of Janesville, secretary; T. G. Clauson of Horicon; John K. Kline of Green Bay; H. E. Steadman of Sturgeon Bay; Louis Arnold of Milwaukee; Thomas Duncan of Milwaukee.

GRAHAM BROTHERS
1926 PRODUCTION

Production facilities of Graham Brothers, truck manufacturing division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., were expanded over 40 per cent in 1926, the first full year of Dodge Brothers control of this company, according to an official announcement. Production and sales under Dodge Brothers guidance last year more than kept pace with the increase in manufacturing facilities.

Shipments of trucks and motor coaches in 1926 totaled 37,463 units, a gain of 55.7 per cent over the 24,056 shipped in 1925, Graham Brothers best previous year. Shipments of 31-ton commercial cars totaled 29,830 against 26,657, a gain of 11.9 per cent. Expansion of Graham Brothers plants last year includes the addition of a quarter of a million square feet of floor space at the plants in Detroit, Evansville, Ind., and Stockton, California. The total floor space devoted to the building of Graham Brothers trucks and commercial cars now exceeds 850,000 square feet. These plants are among the largest and best equipped in the industry.

Since 1921, when Graham Brothers adopted the Dodge Brothers name as the standard power plant in all models, Graham Brothers factories have grown 1,250 per cent. This tremendous increase in manufacturing facilities has been paralleled by the development of the trucks themselves. Ten years of constant improvement since the incorporation of Graham Brothers in 1917 have resulted in new conceptions of what a truck can do and of the values available.

From a single model in 1921, the Graham Brothers line has grown to 33 models with 31 standard bodies. These are made in 3-ton, 1-ton (G-Boy), 1 1/2-ton and 2-ton models with varying wheel bases. In addition to the standard models, the factory, through its special equipment division, supplies special bodies designed to meet the different needs of over 400 districts businesses and vocations.

The past year marked the introduction of Graham Brothers 2-ton truck at a price nearly $800 lower than any 2-ton truck had before been sold. The 1-ton (G-Boy) also made its bow in 1926 as an important development in design and weight distribution. Noteworthy improvements were also incorporated in the 1 1/2-ton models. All of these improvements, added to the rugged strength and handsome appearance for which Graham Brothers trucks are so well known, have been welcomed by truck buyers.

nize the locale, and what takes place. One unfamiliar with the narrative misses nothing by not having the happenings told here. There is no use taking the edge off an enjoyable evening by sketching over so briefly the steps in the unfolding of the grim tragedy of the "rotten Marches," and the thwarting of a love on the part of young Harpenden that, if undisturbed, might have written a vastly different chapter into two lives.

Responsible activities of the theatre report that its audiences delight in it, for it has been established as a national curiosity as something that one must see in order to be able to say that he or she has seen it.

A superb cast will present the play here, and A. H. Wood's general stage director Norman Houston, has staged the performance and directed the production in its entirety.

A STORY OF WHAT BECOMES OF OUR MISSING GIRLS

"A Little Girl in a Big City," at the New Bijou to day and Saturday is a photoplay that is worthy of more than passing notice. For one thing, ordinary melodramatics are absent in the main part. This does not mean that the picture is not dramatic, it is, exceptionally so, but it is the drama of real life.

The spectator who keeps well informed on current events will recognize that the main theme of the plot is taken, almost literally, from an incident that was a newspaper sensation recently in New York. While the story is primarily based on the well known play by James Kyle McCurdy, it has been so modernized that it is a much superior dramatic vehicle than the original.

The picture follows a straight line story of a young girl who wins a beauty contest in a magazine. She thinks the road to fame and fortune is open before her and she goes to New York. Here she quickly learns that there is a dark shadow behind every bright light on Broadway and soon she is alone, friendless and penniless in the heart of a mighty metropolis.

She passes through many exciting experiences and finally she is only too glad to turn to home and mother, a sadly disillusioned young woman.

The characters of the story are real human people and the atmosphere of modern New York is faithfully maintained in some exceptionally remarkable and unusual photographic scenes of famous locations.

Gladys Walton portrays "the little girl" and she actually lives the part.

Carroll college's mighty cage squad invaded Appleton Friday morning and camped at a local hostelry, awaiting their opportunity to take the floor in the evening against Coach George Christophmen's Blue team. Underdogs in a battle which will decide temporarily which squad will hold the top of the Wisconsin-Illinois conference with Appleton. All three teams have beaten Lake Forest by about the same margins and Friday evening's game will be the first of the title elimination series.

Carroll is a favorite because of a speedy team of veterans, every one a sharpshooter, but the Blues are playing at home and are determined to make the Vaukeshians step to carry home the bacon. The Blue team ended their week's practice Thursday afternoon with a hard scrimmage against Christophmen's Blue team and displayed a good brand of ball in spite of having great practices split up by the exams this week. All are in good shape to face the Carrolls.

Local sport followers agree that if the Lawrence five shows the ability which it flashed in some parts of games this year it has a good chance for victory, but the kind of play exhibited in other parts of the same games will enable the Orange to run up a large score. Poor streaks mingled with extra-brilliant play was good enough to beat Beloit, Oshkosh Normal and team teams to beat the Green Appleton aggregation. The Blue team will have to play consistently good ball, not streaked.

APPLETON GIRLS ROLL SUNDAY IN PIN MEET

Green Bay—(P)—The eighth annual Wisconsin Women's bowling association tournament was to get underway here at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when a dozen local teams swung into action. At 7 o'clock another twelve squads is scheduled to take the alleys followed by a third shift at 9:30.

The entry list for the tournament shows 152 squads in the team events; 176 pairs in the doubles and 1238 individuals in the singles. Local teams will use the alleys on the 2 o'clock shift and outsiders will attack the pins at 4:30, 7 and 9:30 schedules.

Bowlers from Madison, Milwaukee, Cudahy, Fond du Lac, Appleton and Oshkosh will be seen in action here over the weekend.

TWELVE HITS HIGH IN WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago—Despite the fact that 23 world series battles have been staged between the two major leagues, only three batsmen over that long period of time have succeeded in making as many as 12 hits in any of the clashes.

A number of players have compiled 11 hits but to Charles Herzog of the New York Giants, Joe Jackson of the Chicago White Sox and Sam Rice of Washington, goes the honor of cracking out an even dozen safe tallops.

Herzog made his in 1912 against Boston; Jackson in 1919 against Cincinnati and Rice in 1925 against Pittsburgh. Herzog and Jackson played in eight games, Rice one less.

Suzy, Molla Disagree On Women Sportsmanship

Miami Beach, Fla.—Suzanne and Molla, strongponents of the feminine tennis world, have found another point of difference.

Suzanne, who is from Miami Beach for winter months, has expressed herself on the rights of women in sports. And their answers were as different as the tennis balls used in the game.

"I don't think it is fair to have women tennis players in the same way as men," said Suzanne. "I think they should be treated as women, not as men." Molla, who is from New York, said: "I don't think it is fair to have women tennis players in the same way as men. I think they should be treated as men, not as women."

ROSENBERG WILL DEFEND CROWN IN BOUT WITH BUSHY

Banty Champ Goes into Ring in Title Go for 1st Time in Over Year

New York—(P)—Charles (Bibi) Rosenberg Friday dusted off his world's bantamweight ring crown for its first appearance in a title match here in the city of New York. He will fight Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y. in Madison Square garden Friday night at 10 o'clock.

Rosenberg has had a six weeks fight against weight to reach the class limit of 115 pounds. He still carried an excess three quarters of a pound as he stepped into the ring Thursday and he had to make the weight this afternoon or see his title forfeited with a $2,500 guarantee that he would be within the limit.

Rosenberg, an oft-suspended champion because of his refusals to defend his title, was a slight favorite in speculation but he conceded Graham a strong chance to lift the crown. For a long time Graham has been regarded as the outstanding challenger by the state athletic commission.

Graham, a natural bantam, is expected to report at ringside in peak condition. The commission announced the match would be staged whether Rosenberg made the weight or not.

The championship bout is scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock.

EXPECT CROWD AT IRISH-M.J. GAME

Team Which Beat Big Ten Quints Invades Milwaukee Friday Night

Milwaukee—A capacity crowd will be on hand, Friday night, when the Notre Dame basketball team invades the Marquette gymnasium as a clash in the new Central Intercollegiate Basketball conference.

Notre Dame at present is tied with Butler for the lead in the new circuit, while Marquette is third with one victory and two defeats. Michigan State is trailing.

Coach Frank Marquette's Marquette cagers have been working overtime in the last two weeks in their efforts to develop a defense against the flashy Irish aggression. Notre Dame holds victories over Northwestern, Iowa, Minnesota, Wabash, Michigan State and others, and has lost but two games in the last two seasons, both of them to Franklin. George Kogan's invaders boast a "system" in their play, and the local netters will do their best to break it up.

Bill Curran, veteran center from Antigo, will play his last varsity game against the Irish. The forwards probably will be Capt. Ed Herte, Milwaukee, and Floyd Ranner, Stevens Point, with Walter Gobert, Merrill; Irvin, Herte, Milwaukee, and Bill Anderson, May City, Mich., all ready to go in Connie Dunn, Milwaukee, and Denver Shimek, Manitowish, will be the guards.

Next week Marquette plays Creighton at Omaha and the University of Des Moines at Des Moines, Ia. The dates are Feb. 11 and 12, respectively. The last game of the season will be with Lawrence college at Appleton, March 1.

HO! HUM! WEISMULLER SETS ANOTHER RECORD

Chicago—(P)—Johnny Weismuller is still splashing to records.

In a time test in the Illinois Athletic club water program Thursday night Weismuller set a new world's mark for the 220-yard free style swim, doing it in 2:58.5. The old mark, which Weismuller also held was 2:19.25.

Johnny Risko, who has met three of the leading heavyweights, including Champion Gene Tunney, says Jack Delaney has more power behind his punches than either Tunney or Berlenbach.

ORANGE MITT MEET HELD ON SATURDAY

High School Boxers Mix in 11 Classes in Intermural Boxing Tourney

Youthful boxing enthusiasts of Appleton high school will compete for school championships in 11 classes Saturday at the high school gymnasium when the first annual boxing tournament of the school will be held. The tourney is part of Coach Joseph Shields' intermural sport program, started this year. Already an inter-gymnasium class cage loop, an inter-class ski meet and a skating tourney have been held and after the boxing tourney, wrestling and later golf and tennis meets will take place.

Three one-minute rounds will comprise each bout and the winner will be chosen by 3 competent officials. One official will be a member of the school faculty. Two faculty members will head groups of three officials and two fights will be staged at once, one at each end of the gymnasium. Boxing meets with Neenah and other nearby schools also may be scheduled, if it is possible. Medals and trophies will go to winners in each class in the school meet. Approximately 35 boys are listed in the entries for the meet, including many representatives of the variety football, basketball and track squads.

Superweight, 160 pounds; flyweight, 100-112 pounds; bantamweight, 112-120 pounds; featherweight, 120-126 pounds; junior lightweight, 126-130 pounds; lightweight, 130-135 pounds; junior welterweight, 135-145 pounds; welterweight, 145-155 pounds; middleweight, 155-160 pounds; light heavyweight, 160-175 pounds; heavyweight, 175 pounds and over.

SIX IOWA TEAMS IN 19 EVENTS IN MONTH

Shortest Month Contains More Contests For Hawks Than 3 Previous

Iowa City—The year's briefest month contains more contests for University of Iowa athletes than did all of November, December and January, the sport calendar discloses.

A total of nineteen contests—nine at home and ten on foreign territory—will occupy the basketball, swimming, wrestling, track, gymnastics and fencing teams. Only seventeen contests have been played in the past three months.

Two big weekends lie ahead of Hawkeye athletes. On February 13, three attractions at home and three away have been arranged. These are Purdue basketball, Northwestern swimming and Nebraska wrestling at Iowa City and Illinois track, gymnastics and fencing at Urbana.

From Friday, February 11 to Monday, February 14, Hawkeye teams must compete in five contests. Illinois basketball, Wisconsin track and Michigan wrestling are the foreign tilts.

Jarry's basketball team, with five games of which three are at home, is the busiest group of athletes. Ohio State, Illinois, Purdue and Chicago are scheduled to appear at Iowa City while the Hawkeyes must travel to Wisconsin.

The swimmers face Michigan and Northwestern in their own pool and Minnesota and Chicago afield. Nebraska and Illinois come to Iowa City as opponents for the wrestlers. The Iowans go to Chicago and Minnesota.

Wisconsin is the sole track attraction at home. The Iowans meet Illinois in a dual at Urbana and compete in the Illinois Relays also at Urbana.

The gymnasts travel to Illinois and Minnesota and the fencers accompany the acrobats to Illinois.

EAGLE BOWLERS WHIP STRONG NELSON FIVE

The Eagle bowling team took two games from the strong Nelson Insurance Co. pinsters Thursday evening on the Eagle alleys, taking the match by 75 pins. The Insurance men took the first game by 67 maples but were forced to be content with only that battle as the Eagles took the next by 58, to advance to 9 pins from the lead, and then added the third by 24.

Wellhouse of the Eagles lead the keggers with a 223 high game and a 584 high series. For the Insurance men O. Fox had high game of 265 and E. Kositzke had high series of 564. E. Koerner of the Eagles, with a 261, had the only other double century mark.

CORNER CAGERS WIN TWO GAMES IN WEEK

Bill Meltz's Valley Queen cage squad of Twelve Corners edged two victories to its list this week, trouncing Co. D in a hard-fought struggle Sunday evening, 11-6 and beating the Kimberly Independents with Cornbrune, Williams and Brown in the lineup Wednesday evening by a 21-12 count. Fourteen fouls were called on the Corners boys in the Wednesday struggle with four players having three and a fifth having two fouls.

A Black Creek man refereed. The second point lost Black Creek Sunday, 12-6. Monday evening the Corners again will meet Co. D in a return game at Armory G.

BUSHY GRAHAM SHOULD TEST BANTAM CHAMPION TO LIMIT

Among the leading contenders for the bantam title, now held by Charles Phil Rosenberg, is "Bushy" Graham of Utica, N. Y. He is certain to give the titleholder a real test in their coming clash.

The only black spot on Graham's record of recent date, is the defeat he suffered by the comparatively unknown Tony Canzoneri. Taking the match at short notice after "Bud" Taylor had canceled, Graham found Canzoneri a far tougher proposition than he had figured. He lost the decision, a rather close one at that.

Hotchkiss To Replace Merkel For Card Five

Madison—(P)—Horsemen from the Hoosier state who do their galloping on the hardcourt rather than the gridiron invade Madison Tuesday for a non-conference game with Wisconsin.

Notre Dame, whose teams of the chalk-marked field have led the way for the nation's football teams in years past, completely overlooked basketball until the last three years. Since that time the Benders have been represented by some of the strongest outfits in the middle west.

This year, in competition extending into Big Ten circles, Notre Dame has left a trail of brilliant victories. Only once have they failed to finish in front. The Franklin college team that started Wisconsin off on the wrong foot this season, placed the only black mark on the Hoosier team's slate.

Twice Notre Dame has defeated Northwestern, and in their only game with Iowa they came through with a one-point victory. Other mid-west teams, some strong and others weak, have fallen before the Notre Dame attack.

Confronted with this group of sharpshooters, Wisconsin will continue strenuous sessions in the gymnasium over the weekend. Social affairs, including the whirl of junior prom, will get only a fraction of the team's time.

The lineup that has carried the Badgers through four straight conference victories will be changed when they come on the floor for the Notre Dame game. Ralph Merkel, Chicago, who captained the squad the first semester, handed over the title and his uniform when final exams rolled around. Because of having completed the required college work, he is ineligible for future competition.

George Hotchkiss, Oshkosh, will appear in the floor guard position vacated by the flashy Badger star, and should be able to work well in the offensive game of Meanwell's team. Rollie Barnum, Madison, will steer the team from the captain's seat for the rest of the season.

ORLEBECK LOST TO SHEBOYGAN HIGHS

3-sport Star, Holder of State High Jump Mark, Completes Course

Sheboygan—With the graduation on Friday of Earl Orlebeck, the local high school loses one of the most outstanding athletes who has represented the institution in the last two years.

A three sport letter man, Orlebeck is best known for the record made at the Fox River Valley conference track meet in Appleton last spring when he topped the state high school high jump record by three-eighths of an inch. He jumped 5 feet 10 3/8 inches, while the state record, held by Tuhtar, former Milwaukee student, is 5 feet 10 1/2 inches.

Orlebeck went down to the state meet last May, but he was not in the best of condition and he was unable to repeat in the high jump. He has been an outstanding center and a leading scorer in the valley conference so far this season. His graduation cuts short his third season on the team at a time when his services are greatly needed. Orlebeck also has been a star halfback on the football team for the last two seasons.

WEATHER MAY SPOIL SUNDAY HOCKEY GAME

Unless the weatherman experiences a change of heart and turns the atmosphere cold, Schlafli-Galpin Maroons, local Valley Hockey loop team, may have to cancel its game with the Menasha squad Sunday. The game is to be played at Neenah and it will decide the cellar position in the loop as both teams have lost all but one effort. Appleton beat Menasha previously and the Pails took a forfeit from Oshkosh, to knock that crew from a first-place tie with Neenah.

LUTZ THIRD HIGH SCORER OF LEAGUE

Orange Forward 8 Points Behind 1st; Fishbeck Leads Testwuide

Taking advantage of the fact that Sheboygan and Bobby Testwuide were idle in Valley conference cage circles last Friday and that Manitowish had little competition from East Green Bay's "revamped" reserves, Art Fishbeck, sensational Chair city high forward, assumed the lead among Fox River Valley High School Conference scorers. Fishbeck brought his total to 16 field goals, the same as 'the idle Testwuide, scoring leader since the season started, and 4 free tries, one more than Bobby, to take the lead in one point. He has 35 points to 35 for the Sheboygan lad. He scored seven baskets and a free try against East.

Lutz, Orange forward, jumped back into the game by advancing to third place with 23 points, eight behind first. He scored five ringers against Fond du Lac to bring his total to 12. Herber, West Green Bay, went on a scoring rampage against Oshkosh and advanced to fourth place and Manis, of Fondy, who scored four baskets and four free tries against Appleton for his night this year, moved to fifth to take the lead for his team from Giebel. Three Fond du Lac and two Manitowish players occupy five of the next six places to bring their team the first and second high scoring honors and justify their positions on top of the loop. Hanson, Fondy standing guard, Wilda, Manitowish standing guard, and Fischl, Ship center, are the only regulars of these two teams not among the first 12 high scorers.

Laird of Appleton has 13 points and Reetz 11. Of the first nine players on the list, Fond du Lac and Manitowish have three each, Sheboygan has one, Appleton has one and West Green Bay has one.

The list:

GOOD TRIAL HORSE

Carl Tremaine of Cleveland, who should have been featherweight champion but never quite reached that state, is now regarded as merely a good trial for new aspirants to the title.

MEN KEGLERS TROUNCE GIRLS QUINT BY 491

Hoppies Weiners mens' pin squad had little trouble taking three games from the Hoppies Sausage girls on the Arcade alleys, rolling a match of 2,893 to whip the girls by 491 pins. The men rolled games of 991-979-1,013.

H. Strutz of the Weiners had high game of the match with a 224 and a teammate, A. Weissgerber, had high series, a 610. For the girls, E. Dunn, had high game of 191 and high series of 505. Two hundred games went to F. Felt of the winners with 214-200; A. Weissgerber of the winners, 222; H. Strutz of the winners, 207-224.

Addition Of Speaker Gives Senators Great Trio Of Outfield Stars

Goose Goslin, Sam Rice and Tris Give Nats Best Three in Majors

BY BILLY EVANS

The signing of Tris Speaker by Washington, to my way of thinking, gives that club the best outfield in the majors.

Goslin in left, Speaker in center and Rice in right, comprise an outfield that would be hard to beat. It boasts unusual strength in every department of play.

I can think of only one outfield that might possibly be rated better, the old Boston Red Sox combination of Lewis, Speaker and Hooper.

The Washington trio of today has greater batting strength, in fielding it is about a standoff between the two, on the bases, Goslin, Speaker and Rice are faster in throwing alone, did the Red Sox definitely excel.

Washington pitchers should have little to kick about this summer as far as their outfield is concerned. Tris Speaker has slowed up some, of course, but is far from being through. I don't know how many more years he intends to play, I have heard only one, but he could probably step along in big league style for three more seasons if he cared to.

Speaker is unquestionably the greatest outfielder of the last 20 years, all phases of play considered. His judgment is uncanny, his knowledge of opposing batters complete, there never was a surer catch and his arm has always been noted for its accuracy.

Goslin, Speaker and Rice form a defensive trio that should make it difficult for the opposition to make balls fall safe in the outfield.

When Goslin joined the Washington club, he was one of the worst fitters I have ever seen break into the majors. Whenever he started after a fly ball, I feared for his safety.

The fact that left field in Washington is a sun territory, made his task none the easier. I have seen the "Goose" stagger under many a fly ball during the early days of his career, only to lose it entirely or make the catch in a sensational acrobatic manner.

However, Goslin took his failures good naturedly and realizing the defects in his play, set about to remedy them. He has succeeded in a most emphatic manner.

While Goslin lacks the grace of Tris Speaker and Sam Rice, he can go get them in the most approved style.

Sam Rice, the other member of the trio, is one of the truly great outfielders of the game. There is a polish to his play that makes difficult catches look easy.

Modest and unassuming, Rice goes about his work in an almost mechanical manner and seldom turns in a poor performance. For one of the most remarkable outfielders in the game, he has been but little press-ganged, due to a certain lack of color.

"Man of War," the Washington fans call Sam Rice, because of his great speed. It is a deserved nickname.

RACINE MAN ROLLS HIGH IN STATE PIN TOURNAY

Racine—(P)—Somegood scores for state knights of the polished drives to shoot at during the coming month were registered in the two-men, individual and all events of the Silver Jubilee State Bowling tournament here Thursday. J. Felzer, of Racine, swung into the lead of three divisions. Paired with H. Tessmer, Felzer helped accumulate 1,203 to lead the doubles, came back with 638 to top the singles which figured with his 557 in the five-man, gave him the lead in the all-events with 1,781.

Felzer hit 556 in the two man test and Tessmer donated 617, the duo, having games of 423-451 and 323. R. J. Zenner, and R. Brail, Racine, took second with 1,161 and J. Koetting and J. Wilke, also of Racine, poked 1,155. R. Allen, Racine, was second in the individual event on 627 and H. Jorgenson shot 612 for third.

Bergers service station team, and E. M. B. R. five of Milwaukee shot the best total of the day in the five-man event when they tipped 2709 maples into the pit. Four shifts of singles and doubles, all Racine keggers, occupied the drives during the day Friday. At 6 o'clock three booster squads from the Federal Rubber Company of Cudahy, will occupy the drives. Saturday the first regulars will begin the war on the ten pins.

AGNES GERAGHTY SETS NEW WOMENS SWIM MARK

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—Agnes Geraghty, New York mermaid, hung up a world's record Thursday night in the Women's National Senior Swimming championships. Swimming against Mathilda Scheuchel, a team mate of the Women's Swimming association of New York city, and Marie Hillegas of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde Miss Geraghty led by 20 feet at the finish of 220 yards. The old mark of 3:21.25 was clipped to 3:20.

Laird, Reetz, C. Pause
Steinberg (C) G. Liebenow
Kunitz G. Carver

Enabled by the return to the ranks of Pause, veteran center of two years ago, to shift Tadych back to his regular forward position, the Oshkosh high school cage squad which faces Appleton Friday evening at the Sawdust city will be the strongest five that Oshkosh has placed on the gridiron this season. The Blue and White has lost four straight games and now with the rejuvenated lineup sees a chance of winning its first game before the home crowd, especially as Appleton's victory here was by the smallest score of the four games. The Orange won 16-9 and since that time three other conference squads have beaten Oshkosh by more than 7 points.

When Schroeder, vet center of 1925, quit the Sawdust lineup just before the first conference game with Appleton, Tadych was shifted to the jump line and he performed well for his first try at a new position. However, he was a natural forward and now will be able to tear at his old berth. Two years ago Pause was one of the best centers of the conference, but last year he did not come out and had not until last week this year, when the weakness of the Oshkosh squad caused him to change his mind to attempt to help his school. With the return of Oshkosh has three good forwards in Tadych, Crowell and Cully Pugh, their sharpshooters.

The Orange will send at least seven men into the fray with Lutz, Reetz, Laird, Kunitz and Steinberg as probable starters. Strutz will get in at his nose permits and Johnston, star of the Kaukauna game, and Freddie may also get chances. Others who may see service are Murphy and Carlson.

Lawrence Profs Beat Fondy Volleyballers

Lawrence college professors wallowed the regular Fond du Lac Y. M. C. A. volleyball squad in a series of games played Thursday evening at Alexander gymnasium, taking five straight games, 15-4, 15-8, 15-12, 15-8 and 16-14. The match was the first outside contest for the faculty squad this year. The professors will play a return match at Fond du Lac later in the year. The Fondy "Y" crew plays the Appleton Y. M. C. A. team here next week.

Other matches will be played with nearby city teams such as Manitowish, Nico and Neenah are being arranged by the professors in preparation for their entry in the district Y. M. C. A. tourney this spring. Last year, their first year in the profs finished second.

NEW LONDON PUCKSTERS

The New London hockey team will invade Appleton for a battle with the Appleton Independents Sunday if the weather changes enough to allow good ice. Appleton won 10-1, at New London two weeks ago and the Edinburgh pucksters have not lost a game so they say. They have come back to form with a victory last Sunday over the Waupaca sextet, 5-3, and are confident of playing the same kind of game against the local squad.

RUTH'S HOMER RECORD SETS MARK FOR RIVALS

New York—When Babe Ruth made three home runs in one game of the 1926 world series against the St. Louis Cardinals, he topped off his remarkable career as the greatest slugger baseball has ever seen, probably ever will.

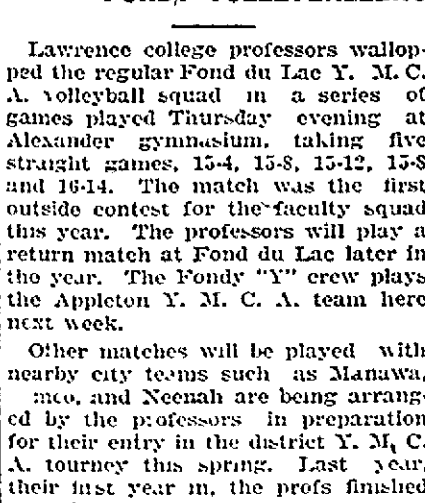

Ruth has really spent only 8 years as a regular outfielder, having pitched prior to 1919, so since that time he has made 356 home runs, almost 45 per season.

Against Detroit, he has made more home runs than any other club, 64. Largely because Cobb insisted on having his twirlers pitch to him, often with disappointing results.

Ruth, aside from holding the home run record with 59, has the honor of having 8 world series circuit drives to his credit, including the unusual feat of three in one game and has made 1 home runs during his career with the bases filled.

The slugger who tops the feats of Babe Ruth certainly has his work cut out for him.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE!

A SCENE FROM "THE GREEN HAT," FEATURING EMMA RAFF. THE PLAY WILL BE PRESENTED THURSDAY, FEB. 10 AT FISCHER'S APPLETON THEATRE.

SUB HAS BIG DAY IN DEBUT AS REGULAR

Chicago—Ray Morehart, substitute second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, who goes to the New York Yankees in part payment for Aaron Ward, made a most unusual debut as a regular last season.

Given a chance at various times to break into the game as a sub, Morehart showed considerable ability in the field but always looked rather weak at the bat. Doubt was expressed as to his ability to hit major league pitching.

Late last season Eddie Collins suffered a leg injury that forced him out of the lineup and it was up to Morehart to play regularly in the place of Collins.

Making his debut as a regular in a double header against Detroit, all he did at the bat was make nine hits in 10 trips to the plate.

7 COMPLETE NATIONAL GUARD PISTOL COURSE

Seven members of the second platoon of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, fired the complete pistol course Wednesday evening under the direction of Lieutenant Hubert Hottel, Corporal Kemp led the shooters with a 219 score. Other scores were Private Zuchlik, 247; Private Götting, 231; Private Deamger, 226; Private W. Harmon, 213; Private Reidl, 208.

Men who fired but failed to complete the course were Sergeant Kerrigan, and Privates E. Dunson, F. Dunson, Ganzen, Kerrigan, Hanneman, Everts and Boelson.

Several new recruits have joined the company in the last few weeks and there still is room in the company for more. The enlistment of James Kerrigan during the week brought the sets of brothers now enrolled in the company to five. Privates Roger, Vilbur and Sylvester Harmon are the only "triplets" in the company, but their pairs are Sergeant Joseph and Private James Kerrigan; Sergeant Harry and Private Harold Lore; Sergeant Maurice and Private Charles Peerenboom; Privates Edward and Floyd Dunson. Lieutenant Hubert Pette and Sergeant William Donovan are brothers-in-law.

It is now compulsory for one in every 15 lifeboats carried by British passenger ships to be equipped with wireless.

The two leagues will hold separate meetings here next Tuesday to approve the schedules.

LAWMAKER WANTS STIFFER PENALTY FOR ROAD SPEEDERS

Introduces Bill to Make Speed
Over 30 Miles an Hour
Criminal Negligence

Madison—(AP)—Bills introduced in the assembly Wednesday, in addition to the Ingalls bill for repeal of the personal property tax and that of Assemblyman Gehrmann for compulsory insurance of automobile drivers, included a measure by Edwards, of Sussex, making proof of speeding more than 30 miles an hour on highways of the state prima facie evidence of criminal negligence. Under the statute, if passed, speeding motorists could be prosecuted for a more serious offense than at present.

Other measures and their authors were:

A joint resolution by Hilder, setting up a committee of the senate and assembly to recommend revision of the congressional districts of the state. The committee, to be composed of four senators and seven assemblymen, would be required to report a bill by March 4. The resolution states that the congressional districts of the state have not been revised since 1910, and that changes in population since the census of that year necessitate some alteration.

Instructing the insurance commissioner to submit by February 10 a detailed schedule of the amounts of insurance, by separate risks, carried by counties, towns, villages, and schools.

DAN CUPID IS LAZY WORKER
IN JANUARY

January, never an active month for Dan Cupid, was unusually quiet this year, John E. Hantschel, county clerk, reports. Only nine marriage licenses, less than one every three days, were issued by the clerk during the month. Twenty-four licenses were granted in the same month last year while 16 couples appeared at his office in January, 1926.

No reason for the decrease is advanced by Mr. Hantschel. Although there are perhaps more persons out of employment this year than there were in 1926, the county clerk does not lay this to the disadvantage which apparently overlooked, Outanama, a contemporary.

Lost Fox Village Near Mosquito Hill, Bradt Says

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Since archeological subjects have become so much the rage as the result of the decision to begin a search for the lost village of the Fox Indian tribe, supposed to have been near New London, much of interest has been brought up relative to New London and early days.

Among the varied opinions upon the subject of where the village was situated, is that of Sheldon Bradt, pioneer of Wisconsin and New London. It varies greatly from that of the Rev. Dayton, yet both have definite reasons for their beliefs.

Mr. Bradt thinks that Mosquito hill must have been an important point in the lives of the tribesmen.

"In all maps drawn by early Jesuits," states Mr. Bradt, "high elevations of ground almost always are pointed out as being of importance."

In his written theories regarding early history Mosquito hill has been called Mission hill, Signal hill and other names which to me seem more appropriate than the name which clings to it now. It seems logical that early Indian tribes used this elevation for signaling.

Their smoke signals could be seen for miles and their messages were carried on between long distances by runners. Smoke signals read by runners spoke a language of their own. Jesuits always chose high mounds such as Mosquito hill for the erection of their crosses, but aside from this there is no evidence of certainty to be read in the fact that early settlers found Indians tilling their corn fields, fashioning their tools and arrows, and holding their feasts along both sides of the Wolf river, the Embarras and the Little Wolf.

Mr. Bradt contends that Indian villages were struggling affairs, as the lodges usually fronted on the water with the tiled ground running back a distance. Mr. Bradt also believes that the Little Wolf is the most logical place, for the fishing at the rapids at Phillips bridge was the best to be found within a radius of many miles.

"Between the bridge at Northport and my farm I once cut down an immense oak tree which was a patriarch. Its branches spread for a great distance and its shade a hundred people could stand under."

Antiquated ground about this tree, which showed that it might have been used as a council ground. On my farm and all along the Little Wolf, the corn hills of the Indians, those places which had been used year after year for the planting of corn were found, denoting that the homes of the Indians spread over a great distance," Mr. Bradt declared.

In the city of New London have been found a great many mounds and Indian relics. At the rear of the residence now owned by John Lyons the bones of what was supposed to be an Indian baby were once found. On Lincoln st., on New London's north side, graves and mounds have been found, and there is a mound in the city park, which, though never excavated, is supposed by many to be an elevation built by Indians.

The twenty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the Tuesday Five hundred club, which is composed of members of Emmanuel Lutheran church, will be celebrated Sunday evening, Feb. 6, at the home of Mrs. Anna Pieper. Card playing will furnish the evening's entertainment. The husbands will be guests of the evening.

Among the charter members are Messrs. A. R. Margraff, Fred Reiter, Walter Schoenrock, Sr., Charles Krueger, Anna Pieper and Della Curtis.

Mrs. Otto Stern was hostess to the West Side club at her home on W. Spring-st., Wednesday afternoon. Prizes at five hundred were awarded to Mesdames A. R. Margraff and Maria Abraham. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Schulz on Wednesday, Feb. 15. The members of the club will celebrate the fourth anniversary of its organization on Feb. 20, at the home of Mrs. Herman Ladwig.

The second of a series of benefit card parties given by members of the American Legion Auxiliary at their respective homes was held Thursday afternoon, Mrs. John Nugent being hostess. Others assisting the hostess included Mesdames Lester Gruentzel, John Eggers and Ed. Brown. Eight tables of five hundred were in play.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lasch, second, and Mrs. Raymond Prahl, low.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid of Emmanuel Lutheran church was held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon, with a large attendance. Plans were completed for the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the new church building, which will be held on Sunday, Feb. 13. Special church services will be held in the morning. The afternoon program, which will open at 3 o'clock, will consist of the following numbers: Opening song by children of the Sunday School, "Praise Ye the Lord"; offering by pupils of School Principal H. W. Schield; vocal number by the Misses Hildegard and Irmaagard Spiering; song by pupils of the intermediate grade under direction of Miss Haefner; pin contest for all present; dialog, selected; duet by Miss Grace Arnold and Miss Pauline Haefner; monolog by Edwin Dorsch; horn contest for those present; accordion selection by Norman Schneider; monolog by Ed Kringling; quartette, German folk songs; selection by pupils of H. W. Schield; thread contest; piano solo by Glen Marks. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon and a chili supper from 5 until 7 o'clock. Mrs. H. W. Spearbraker, assisted by Mesdames Harry Marks and Mrs. H. B. Dams with Mrs. A. Sterns in charge Green, will be in charge of the decoration of the dining room. Entertainment is in charge of the following committee: Mesdames G. A. Vandree chairmen, Walter Spiering, A. R. Margraff, Otto Lenzke, Otto Heinrich and Will Marks. Mrs. William Tank was elected as a new member of the Ladies Aid at this meeting.

MASTER BUILDERS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEET AT GREEN BAY

Program Will Be Featured by Introduction of Innumerable Topics

An innovation in convention pro-grams will be tried at the fifteenth annual convention of the Master Builders' association of Wisconsin in Green Bay from Feb. 9 to 11, when open forum discussions will be stressed. A large number of topics will be introduced for discussion, thus reducing down the number of programmed addresses and speeches. Only one feature address will be made each day and the remainder of the time will be devoted to open discus-sions.

Topics which will be introduced are: Overhead Expense, Cost Keeping Methods, Day Labor Construction, Mechanics Lien Law, Licensing of Contractors, Incomplete Plans and Specifications, Open and Closed Shop, Code of Ethical Practice, Credit In-formation for Contractors, Bonus System, Forms of Proposals and Con-tracts, Apprenticeship in the Build-ing Industry, Accident Prevention, Business Methods in Contracting, Pit-falls in Contracting, Winter Con-struction, Building and Loan asso-ciations, Trade Discounts, Con-tractors Equipment and Quantity Sur-vey. From this list the builders will choose seven which will be thoroughly dis-cussed.

More than 1,000 contractors from every part of the state are expected to attend the convention. G. W. Ken-nedy of Green Bay is chairman of the general committees in charge of en-tertainment.

Among contractors from Appleton who will attend are Herman Schultz, William Schmeig, Herman Beske, Earnest Nieft, Fred Lillge, Louis Walman, John Leonhardt, Lawrence Koepke, Robert Schultz, Martin Boldt and Henry Hegner.

The special resolutions committee of the Appleton Master Builders' as-sociation has prepared the following resolu-tion for presentation at the busi-ness sessions of the convention.

WHEREAS: The manufacturers of many products successfully brand their goods as a certification of grade or quality, and as a protection to the public and a service to the consumer, and

WHEREAS: The lumber industry under the leadership of the De-partment of Commerce is engaged in a great program of standardization of lumber sizes and lumber grades with the recommendation that such standards be certified by the manufacturer through a brand or mark on each piece, and

WHEREAS: Various regional lum-ber manufacturing associations of the United States, The Associated General Contractors of America, The National Association of Builders Exchange, The American Institute of Architects, Va-rious Associations of Retail Lumber Dealers and certain of our own local, and numbers of others interested have

CORN BORER HELD GREATEST MENACE TO AGRICULTURE

Pest Threatens National Prosperity. Speaker Tells Farmers

Madison—(P)—The European corn borer is the greatest menace which ever confronted American agriculture and threatens national prosperity, G. I. Christie, chairman of the International European Corn Borer Organiza-tion told delegates to the Wisconsin Farmers' and Homemakers' Week

"Because of the seriousness of this agricultural problem," he continued, "the bill providing for the eradication or control of the corn borer, introduced in Congress, should have the support of every member. It is of direct con-cern to corn growers, cotton produc-ers, live stock feeders, and farmers, as well as the people of the cities. Any great loss to the corn would have an immediate effect on consumers in the city, on industry, railroads, and other enterprises.

"With the advance of this pest, to-wards the corn belt of the central west and its increasing destructiveness in the areas already infested, national prosperity is seriously threatened.

"A study of the situation is the older infestations in Canada reflects the possible effects in the great corn belt of the central west if the borer be-come well established there. In 1923 all of the corn fields in Kent and Essex counties in Canada showed a commer-cial loss of 50 to 100 per cent. In 1924, the normal corn acreage of 100,000 acres in Essex county was reduced to 8,000 acres, this greatly reduced acre-age showing practically a complete loss.

"The area suffering practically total destruction of the corn crop, has in-creased from 400 square miles in 1925 to 1,200 square miles in 1926. Land values in this section have already de-creased 25 to 50 per cent."

An extensive clean-up campaign in the infested area in the United States is proposed, Mr. Christie said.

"Under the proposed plans for a clean-up of this large corn area, farm-ers will be required to break down the stalks, rake and burn them or plow in a careful way so as to cover complete-ly all corn stubble, weeds and other refuse and debris. It is readily recog-nized that this plan means a lot of extra work and the use of additional ma-chinery.

"The clean-up campaign must be completed by May 1 in most sections of the territory involved. This means that in addition to the regular rush of spring work farmers are called upon to perform extra labor on the corn land. A big task and large expense is proposed for the farmers.

"On farms where the corn borer is doing commercial damage the farmers in self defense and regardless of cost should follow the recommended prac-tices. There are a few farmers in al-most every community who refuse to cooperate. These few then maintain a source of infestation and the work of the others is largely lost.

"Intensive investigation into every phase of the life of the corn borer must be carried on to secure more adequate and practical artificial and natural controls, especially controls which can be effectively adopted by individual farmers. In the meantime every effort must be made to check the spread and reduce the infestation in the present infested territory.

"The present bill calls for financial support and needed state legislation which will permit such clean-up and offers the only solution to a problem, which, if not controlled may jeopardize the wealth and prosperity of the entire nation."
